
THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, MARCH 5, 1903.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

The house of Congress held a four hours session last Sunday. More than 1,000 witnesses have been summoned to attend the U. S. Court in Atlanta.

Albert Knapp, under arrest at Hamilton, Ohio, has confessed to murdering five women.

At Cecil, in Berrien county, robbers entered two stores and cracked the safes last week but got very little money.

More than one-half of the best square in Cincinnati, O., was destroyed by fire on the 26th. Loss $2,000,000.

Up at Clayton last week while court was in session Humphrey Giler stabbed Berry Beck right in sight of the court house.

Leonard Fretwell and Noah Watson, escaped from Hall county jail one night last week. Both had been convicted of stealing.

At Kenesaw, Ga., last Saturday a cyclone destroyed the post-office kept in a store and carried the mail pouch a quarter of a mile.

Up at Cleveland, Ga., yesterday a negro, cousin to Alvenia Coffee here, thought he was taking quinine and it was strychnine. Death relieved him of his cold in half an hour.

Tuesday 13 negro thieves who had stole goods in Atlanta having more than 100 cases against them, plead guilty in one case and were fined $100 each or 12 month in the chain gang.

At Jonesboro, Ga., Friday night Ellis Farmer killed his father-in-law, James Christian, fatally wounded his wife, tried to sacrifice his boy and then committed suicide, because he believed his wife was going to leave him on account of his cruel treatment.

It makes no difference who runs for congress in this district Hon. F. C. Tate will carry Lumpkin county by an overwhelming majority. And we have no other idea but what it will be likewise over the entire district. Mr. Tate has made too good a representative to be swapped off for a new man, for another term at least.

Near Toledo, O., on the night of the 25 ult., ten marked robbers went to the home of Christian Joehlin in search of $20,000, and brutally tortured the entire family including the little children, beating, gagging them and burning the bottoms of their feet until blistered, endeavoring to make them tell where the money was.

A little twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. Peter Duncan was quite badly hurt by a falling shafting last Friday at the Gainesville Cotton Mill. She was taken to her father's home where medical attention soon reached her and she is now out of danger. While painfully hurt it is not thought that any bones were broken—Eagle.

During the absence of Dick Jackson, col., we are told that a white and negro girl go there to exchange words of love with their sweethearts. A white and negro man were seen going courting together there the other day. Such conduct as this with some white people is what makes men negroes. Dick lives near Murrayville.

Knoxville (Tenn.) has unearthed a gigantic grave robbing scheme. A committee of citizens has been investigating and examining graves which were supposed to contain bodies of deceased persons. Already 279 graves have been opened and examined, and only 77 bodies were found. This committee will open all the graves that have been made during the past six years—about a thousand in number.

A BARBER IN TROUBLE.

Henry Underwood, col., Carried to Atlanta Charged With Selling Stolen Goods.

We stated last week that Geo. Underwood, col., had been arrested in Atlanta for stealing goods in that city and shipping them to his brother Henry, here, for disposal, and that a new boy's overcoat had been found in Henry's barber shop and a lot of other goods had been sold by him. As soon as the authorities there received Marshals Harbison's letter of explanation, he was notified by Deputy Sheriff Wright to arrest the negro and hold him until he arrived. This was done on Saturday morning and the officer arrived on the evening's stage and remained until Monday before he carried Henry off, gathering all the information he could. Henry had sold a pistol, tobacco, hats, shoes, ties, overcoats, and other clothing, amounting in real value to about one hundred dollars, but everything was sold at a reduced price. Mr. Wright and Marshal Harbison went over to Gaddistown Sunday to see Mr. Marion Gurley, who Henry had been trading with and found that he had purchased $44 worth of clothing and other things from him. A fine suit of clothing worth $20 was found at Henry's house, who said that he mailed his brother a money order for the amount. The other things were paid for by a horse he sent George, claiming that his brother said that he purchased all these things at auction. An examination was made at the post office here and the records showed that the $20 had been sent as stated. Mr. Wright carried back with him a couple of pairs of shoes and an arm full of overcoats and other clothing and a note of all things that had been sold, either used up or worn out that he could learn of. As stated last week a letter was found in George Underwood's pocket when arrested, from his brother Henry notifying George that he could not sell any more clothing. After George was locked up he wrote a letter to Henry. It was opened and found to contain valuable information to the officers. In the letter he informed Henry that he had been arrested and was in jail, and to destroy everything that he had.

Henry Underwood has been running a barber shop here for several years, bore a good reputation up to this time and the people here were very much surprised when this transaction kindled up.

Later.—The case against Henry has been dismissed and he is back.

Attention Young Men.

The state has established at Dahlonega the best educational plant in North Georgia. Tuition free and board is only $8 per month in the Dormitory. One Hundred Dollars will cover actual cost of college expenses for 9 months. A diploma from this state College is a high honor and stands for work, for scholarship, for character. The state wants to help you help yourself. An investment in brain power pays the best dividends. Will you not accept the state's offer?

The college holds the state championship in oratory. For particulars as to course of study, expense equipment, etc., write to Jos. S. Stewart, President, Dahlonega, Ga.

The court at Columbus O., the other day issued an injunction against Brother Isaac Tenant of Mount Gilead Church, to restrain him from worshipping in a loud unseemly manner. It seems that it was the custom of Brother Tenant to interject "Amen!" in a thunderous tone and at short intervals into the prayers of the other brethren. His "amens" became so frequent and so loud that they grew annoying. He refused to stop them, so the trustees of the church went to the court and got an injunction.

A Letter Written by a White County Lover.

By permission of the lady, we are allowed to print a love letter written to her by a White county young man. It is the sweetest and most loving letter on record. Read it:

CLEVELAND, GA., Feb. 8, 1903.
MISS. DOVE

YAHOOOLA, GA.

MY DEAR FRIEND:
If I come there after you, will you be willing to come back with me? I thought you was sweet the first time I saw you and pretty as a pink. Toal is wanting you. Don't pay any attention to him for he is trying to beat me. Toal can't sing you no songs and I can. I can sing the "Turkey in the Straw." And a heap of them says I am a prettier boy than Toal Hunt. Toal have got no bee gums and chickens.
I am coming to see you when ——— goes out there. I would like Nancy all right but I have understood that she curses and I believe you are nice and sweet tempered like —. I can tell a girl by how she looks. When you get me you will get a fellow that can play the harp. I like you. Don't you like me? How would you like to live in the mountains?

When this you see, Remember me, I am the prettiest boy you ever seen.

The World is long, and the Branches are deep
And in your arms I long to sleep.

Write soon.

Your loving husband,

The roads were considerably damaged by last week's rain.

Proverbs

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
Makes Kidneys and Bladder Right

The wind and rain of Friday night did much damage in many places in Georgia and Mississippi.

At Adairsville, Ga., last week a little child of W. E. Masburn fell in a large tub having water in it and lost its life.

A passenger train near Luodon, Tenn., was wrecked Friday night by running into a land slide, killing three and injuring many.

Hanna and Roosevelt are both loaded for "coon" one with his pension bill, the other with postal office appointments. Which one of them holds the trump card? Asks the Cobb County Courier.

We understand that some of the negroes of this place have their feathers up a little because we refer to their race occasionally as not being suitable for office holders. Now if they don't like what we write they needn't take the Nugget, or any one else that it displeases. We don't favor negroes holding office any more than any other southern man. The government was founded by white men without the assistance of any negroes and ought to be run without them. The negro is all right in his place, and a good law abiding black man makes a splendid citizen.

Local News.

The health of the town and county is so good as to allow some of the physicians time to go out game hunting.

In writing to this paper, you can address the "leading paper of Dahlonega," or the one "having the largest circulation," and we will get it.

The mail for Gainesville last Saturday was delayed an hour down at Cane creek till the water subsided, the water being higher than it has been for many months.

Mayor Baker's heavy fines on rampant violators of the law, are like angel's visits, few and far between, but they count and cause peace and quietude to reign over the entire town.

Mrs. E. F. Anderson of this place, has an orange tree in her flower pit about three feet high bearing eight ripe oranges. She also has a lemon tree, but the fruit fell off before it got ripe.

Some of our subscribers' times have expired and they ought to know it without us sending them a statement. So if they don't renew in a couple of weeks from now their names will be dropped from the list.

The colored population of Dahlonega is decreasing rapidly, being less than it has been for many years, and it is a rare thing now to see a lazy negro idling away the time thumping on an old banjo, trying to make a nickel.

On the first page will be found an article written by Col. W. P. Price of Dahlonega, which we clip from the Sunny South. The Colonel tells all about the Militia of this county in the years of long ago and the article will be found full of interest.

In Atlanta this week, the horse that Henry Underwood of Dahlonega, sent to his brother, was seized by the police and a description of the animal sent out, thinking that it was stolen. The horse was purchased by Henry Underwood and not stolen.

The pastor of the colored Methodist church of Dahlonega, residing at Buford, Ga., didn't appear here last Sunday to fill his appointment. To come so far to preach to a flock of less than a dozen members is very discouraging, especially when there are only a few nickles in it.

Some who have made an examination, inform us that the peaches in this section have been killed in the bud. We are very fond of the fruit and are sorry to learn the above, nevertheless it will save some of the moonshiners many months imprisonment for violating the law by making peach brandy.

Miss Myers, who has been in the employ of the Consolidated Co. here, as stenographer for a long time, left this week for some place in Colorado, where she goes to accept a position tendered her by Mr. Henderson, who used to be here. Miss Myers has a host of friends at this place who regretted to see her leave.

Mrs. Francis E. Wright, nee Miss Nina Stewart, was registered at Hall's Villa last Saturday. Mrs. Wright's parents used to live in Dahlonega, and when she left here 19 years ago, was quite a little girl. After visiting a few of her acquaintances here, Mrs. Wright left for her home in Cleveland, O., Sunday afternoon in company with her husband.

On the first page of this issue will be found an article clipped from the college paper here, telling all about the normal course which is to be taught. There will be no teacher's institute here this year and it will give teachers an opportunity of attending this course. Some of the best educated men of the state will be on hand, giving young teachers an opportunity of hearing something from the lips of these wise men that will do them good.

Most of the public schools of this county closed last week and the teachers are taking a little rest.

Mrs. Davis Smith of Dahlonega, leaves this week for Alabama for the purpose of making it her future home.

Messrs. H. D. Gurley and W. P. Price, Jr., visited Atlanta this week, for the purpose of purchasing a lot of spring goods.

W. S. Davis and family, who resided near Porter Springs, left a few days ago for Arkansas in search of a better country.

Another new lot of stationery just received. Call on us when needing any job work. Our work is first-class and prices reasonable.

We have been kindly remembered by a number of old veterans, school teachers and others since our last issue, by subscriptions and renewals. Thank you, friends.

Mr. Hardie Perdew's little three-year-old child was badly burned one night last week by running against a pan of hot grease its mother had in her hand, burning its hands, face and eyes.

On Monday Marshal Harbison warned a number of hands to work the streets or pay their street taxes before they left for Tennessee to work on the railroad, realizing that it was needed worse here than where they were going.

Postmaster Tate left for Tennessee last Monday to see about purchasing another drove of mules for the lower market. There has not been such a demand for stock before in years. This proves that times are prosperous throughout the country.

The amount of the school fund for this county to pay off the teachers for last month was $881.10, but the county school commissioner was water bound last Saturday for awhile and didn't get in until late, and a number of them left before he arrived, but were made happy later.

Mr. Ashley of Ohio, who is well known here and is now running a dredge boat down in Dawson county, wishing to make a trip across the Blue Ridge last week, and for fear that some of the mountaineers might take him for a revenue officer and do him some harm he secured a letter from a party here to persons over there, telling who he was and what he was after—in search of mica, not illicit distilleries. We have no idea that Mr. Ashley would have been harmed but he meant to be on the safe side.

Robert Patton, who alleged that he secured Martin Guerrin of this county a wife, for which he was to receive fifty dollars, sued him and secured judgment at Cane Creek law ground last Saturday. Col. Bryson represented the plaintiff and Col. Huff the defendant. There was quite a crowd out to hear this novel suit investigated.

No doubt this is the only suit of the kind on record, and will be a warning to lovers hereafter to do their own courting or be willing to pay those who they desire to speak words of love for them.

Mr. Daniel Hyden, the oldest land mark in Lumpkin, passed away at his home in the lower portion of this county last Friday morning, and was buried at Etowah cemetery on Sunday following, in the presence of a very large concourse of people. Mr. Hyden came to this county from Tennessee before the Indians were carried away, and had he lived until next May he would have been 207 years of age. The old gentleman fell off his porch about two weeks before his death and received injuries that might have shortened his days, for he was enjoying very good health up to that time. Many people from both far and near visited Mr. Hyden's home to hear him relate interesting things that occurred long before they were born. He leaves a large number of relatives and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Send to the NUGGET office for your attachments.

If you need any manifold paper for copying purposes we have it.

Mr. W. H. Jones and lady visited relatives in Dawson county last Sunday.

Eastern seed potatoes for sale at John H. Moore's. Also the mountain potatoes.

In a few more days some of Lumpkin county's moonshiners will go down to Atlanta to stand trial for violating the Internal revenue laws, but few of them want justice.

The painters have just put the finishing touch on Mr. J. H. Moore's business house which makes it look as neat and attractive as any store in town, saying nothing of the low prices within its walls.

Persons in buying Eastern seed potatoes should be sure that they get them. Common mountain potatoes have been brought here from Gainesville, marked Eastern seed and sold at a high price. The skin of the Eastern Irish potato is much thicker than those of the same quality raised in this country.

Mr. Ashley passed through here on his way from Union last Saturday to where he is located in Dawson county running a dredge boat for gold. So far he has made but little progress in saving the small amount of light gold he has hauled, and has recently added new machinery to try to save it.

Parties making liquor, even if it is blockade, are liable for a state tax of $200, and those who go down to Atlanta and enter a plea of guilt in the Federal court are due the state $200. This is the law. And so are those who make brandy liable for their tax where they manufacture brandy from fruit grown on other people's land. These things will pay many to remember.

In order to get the schools boys attendance at church here, ministers have to offer inducements by preaching short sermons. The one of the fewest words gets their attendance every Sunday, matter not what denomination he belongs or how well he preaches, showing that they dislike to be forced to attend services, clearly demonstrating that it is better to coax and not to force.

Parties residing near the White county line informed us last Monday that the storm of Friday night was much severer in that county than this. The dwelling of Mr. John Edge was entirely demolished. The top was blown away and at last accounts had not been found. Mr. Edge and one of his children were slightly injured. A pine tree was twisted off at Capt. Asbury's mill and carried whirling in the air and dropped on his dwelling a distance of a quarter of a mile from where it started.

It takes a letter or paper sent from Dahlonega to Walnut, Ga., in this county, only a distance of about 12 miles, 5 days to go. This could be remedied very easily by having the carrier go just a mile and a quarter farther to Gates, which receives its mail from here in two days, if the citizens up there would get up a petition and send it through the proper channel to the post office department they would get what is needed. Request Hon. F. C. Tate to look after it and he will certainly do it.

Well, we don't suppose the business men of Dahlonega mean to advertise the town to summer visitors. Now is the time to begin to do something if you mean to. Don't wait till hot weather. Then it will be too late. Col. Farrow has a big crowd up at Porter, just ten miles above us every summer. Why? Simply because he advertises the place and invites them to come. It would be mighty nice to have one or two hundred visitors here next season, but if you don't want to ask them to come it is all right with us. We can stand it.

Eggs are now selling at 12½.

The new church at Shady Grove will soon be completed.

The Masonic fraternity had an oyster supper at Hall's Villa Tuesday evening.

Parties from both Tennessee and Pennsylvania have been visiting Dahlonega this week.

Mrs. Hutchins, on account of having consumption, won't take charge of the Dahlonega Hotel, which she rented recently.

Mr. Millard Hubbard, of the firm of S. W. Davidson & Co. of Gainesville, was up to Dahlonega last Monday for the first time in many years.

U. S. Deputy Collector Richardson of Gainesville, has been up again this week paying some of the blockaders of this section an unpleasant visit for them.

Deputy Collector Richardson came up this week and destroyed a still or two that had been found by Marshal Grizzle, in accordance with the latest rules recorded in the republican book.

The roads were greatly damaged by last week's rains, washing many of them out so badly Friday night that they are almost impassable in some places. Farming lands were also considerably damaged.

Mrs. Howard of Atlanta, a relative of Mrs. Hutchins of Dahlonega, came up to help her move into the Dahlonega Hotel this week, but to her sorrow found Mrs. Hutchins very sick and unable to move on account of severe illness.

Mr. J. H. McKee, who is running a mercantile business in Dawson county, was up last Sunday to see his family. Mr. McKee expects to return to Dahlonega and resume his business here when the railroad comes, already owning a lot on one of the leading streets, suitable for a store house.

U. S. Deputy Collector Richardson visited Mr. A. J. Ash's place of business, up at Walnut, last Tuesday and we understand collected a tax of $25 from Uncle Jack, who has been selling hard cider. He paid it rather than go to Atlanta. Mr. Ash is a republican but Uncle Sam knows no man when it comes to business of this kind.

The storm of last Friday night was very heavy here, the rain falling in torrents and wind so strong as to cause many citizens to arise about one o'clock thinking there was going to be a cyclone. It seemed to be much heavier in some portions of the county. In the eastern part out houses were unroofed, some farmers having as much as 400 panels of fencing blown down.

The trustees of the N. G. A. College think of buying some more property so as to enlarge and beautify the grounds of this institution, to-wit: Col. Price's old Baptist church property, the parsonage and a portion of Dr. Howards. If it is done all the old buildings will be torn down and all enclosed, which will make it one of the prettiest college grounds in Georgia.

On last Tuesday Mr. Thomas Ray, of Dahlonega, left with a big crowd of hands for Beaver Ridge, Tenn., where they go to work on a railroad tunnel for Mr. Jim Pannel, who was located in Dahlonega for some time. The names on Mr. Ray's list were: Geo. H. McGee, W. P. Porter, Geo. Burgess, Ed. Burgess, A. E. Chapman, P. L. Kennimer, N. D. Jackson, J. W. Baker, J. A. Sullivan, Frank Worley, Floyd Brooksher, Will Brooksher, Tom Johnson, Bob Christian, Hardie Reese, N. P. Phillips, A. M. Benson, W. M. Jackson, Frank Adams, L. S. Price, Newman McDougald, S. Y. Bowen, Ben Perry, Good Free, B. K. Lane, Wm. Rail, John Walker, Albert Peck, J. A. Garner, Ollie Jones, Geo. Peck, Bud Edge, Homer Edge, Charlie Thomas, R. H. Meese, Will Harris, and others who fell in on the way.

Mr. R. C. Meaders visited Atlanta this week.

Hon. G. D. Bruce visited Dawson county this week.

Mr. M. G. Head is going to open out his hotel himself.

Rev. Mr. Mark spent a short while in Gainesville this week.

Mr. J. M. Brooksher, after selling out all his stock down the country, returned home Tuesday.

Two students, not wishing to become military men returned home yesterday because they were forced to drill.

The first trip from the Tube post office, recently established in this county, was made last Tuesday to Dahlonega.

Mr. Charlie Sattenfield saw a cabbage snake this week after it was cut up in a cabbage and he is done eating these vegetables.

J. F. Moore & Co. keep anything and everything you want and at reasonable prices. Call and see them at their new quarters in the Hall Block.

Mrs. Babe Low of this county, was to have been tried here for lunacy yesterday at 10 o'clock, but the husband failed to bring her and the jury summoned for the trial was dismissed.

Under date of Feb. 25, Mr. Wm. M. Taylor of Hot Springs, Ark., writes a letter here wanting to find his wife and son. Any one knowing anything about either of them are requested to write Mr. Taylor at Wadsworth, Nev., or to Dr. R. A. Ellis 400½ Central Av., Hot Springs, Ark.

Thank goodness. After a period of 20 days trying to get a letter to Crossroads in Hall county, with the assistance of postmaster Tate here we have gotten an answer from that office, although our letters were sent on through Gainesville down to Atlanta where they were returned marked "no such office named in state."

In honor of Miss Josephine Myers, who has left Dahlonega for Columbus, Ohio, and in admiration of her conduct and kindness while residing here, the Psi Chapter, P. K. A. Fraternity gave a delightful reception Saturday evening last, which was decidedly the most enjoyable social occasion of the season. Delightful refreshments were served and a beautiful program was rendered, after which the participants, with pleased countenances and happy hearts, retired to their respective homes.

Lula Carroll and another negro woman named Stepp, were up before Mayor Baker last Tuesday and fined for disturbing Tom Anderson and his wife the other night—the former $5 and cost and the latter $2 and cost, in default to work on the streets 50 days each. They knocked on Tom's door, at the same time giving a few oaths and Tom being a country negro and not used to the alarm and pass word of these town society gals, got scared and lit out barefooted in search of night watchman Walker, his wife right after him. So you see Tom is a harmless negro.

At the meeting of the city council last Monday night street tax was fixed at $3.00 cash or six days work, and ordered that a tax of $1.00 be collected on all male dogs and $2.50 on female dogs. Aldermen McGee and Price were elected tax assessors for 1908. And a committee consisting of Boyd, McGee and Moore was appointed to look into the matter of enclosing the grounds of the graded school with a good substantial wire fence, and have report ready by next meeting. The fine money was transferred to the cemetery fund and the street committee was empowered to either repair the old fence around the cemetery or build a new one out of wire. The manager of the telephone at Dahlonega was granted the privilege of riding a messenger bicycle on the side walks in delivering telephone messages or telegraphic dispatches.

Mining Notes.

Work will be resumed at the Betz mine in a few more days.

Superintendent Campbell is engaged down at the Singleton on the Standard property running a giant and sluice way.

Work has been delayed down at Turkey Hill again this week on account of the freshest of last week filling up every pit close to the river.

The Briar Patch Co. expects to commence work on a big scale in a short while, and by the opening of spring everything in the mining line in this section will be lively.

The Crown Mountain plant has been steadily running since the freshest of last week, and the mill plates look splendid. The pump was stopped during the high water and no damage occurred in the least.

Prof. Yates stated that Georgia last year produced over $190,000 in gold and silver yet the geological survey report only gave the state credit for $125,000, and that this year the mistake will be corrected.—Atlanta News.

Having had a few pretty days since our last issue gave the Candler's Creek Co. a chance to make much progress with its work. It won't be long now until their new hotel for the accommodation of the members of the company and their friends, is completed.

About five miles of the Briar Patch canal is completed, so the foreman informs us and work is progressing right along when favored with suitable weather. The severest weather has doubtless all about passed and all kinds of mining work can move along in a short while without any delay.

State Geologist W. S. Yates has been appointed by the United States Geological survey of Washington to collaborate with the office in the department of commerce and arrange and compile the statistics in the mineral output of Georgia for 1902, and also compile the statistics for the twelfth census.

Those working on the Standard property only have leases for an indefinite period as the company expects to take charge and run the mine alone if the smelter now being examined in Mexico is all right. Mr. Maxwell, who visited that section for this purpose will return to Dahlonega in a short time now and make a report.

Capt. Ingersoll generally goes down to the boat at the clean up every Saturday but was unable to get there until Monday morning on account of the mud and water. A full weeks run couldn't be had on account of the high water but the clean up was about as usual counting the loss of time in the delay. This will be the last clean up for this boat. The machinery is being taken off for the new one to be commenced next week.

Manager J. F. Allen of the Appalachian Gold Mining Company of Georgia, yesterday afternoon closed a deal with the Mill-Burns Fibre Company of Chattanooga, for 500,000 brick to be used in the construction of the furnaces of the $1,000,000 smelter to be constructed at Fort Mountain in Murray county. The deal was consummated through the Tennessee company's representative, C. C. Ellis, who returned to Chattanooga this morning.—Atlanta News.

It is not an uncommon occurrence now to see members of the Consolidated Co., talking to our native miners about the business. Had they done this when first starting their mining operations and paid some attention to what was said, instead of sending off after expensive Western men who knew nothing about the formation here, these conversations would have been worth thousands of dollars to them, and saved them much of their money that has been thrown away for outside appearance.

GEORGIA FARMERS ARE COMMENDED

Commissioner Stevens Lands Them For Their Pluck.

RENEWED ENERGY IS EMPLOYED

Though Ove Many Sections of the State Seasons Were Unfavorable For Leading Crops, Farmers Have Not Been Discouraged—Other Remarks.

Surely the Georgia farmers are to be commended for their indomitable pluck. Though over large areas of our state the seasons were unfavorable for the leading crops during last year, they have gone to work with all the vim of men who are not set back by one or two failures, but are in the habit of believing that the way to win fortune's smiles is to compel them by diligent and persistent effort.

In temporal, as well as in spiritual affairs, the main aim is a good one, which says "Trust God, as though everything depended upon Him, and work as if all depended upon your own efforts."

It is the diligent man who finally succeeds, while the sluggard always finds a lion in the way. Fortunately for Georgia, few of her people are found among the idlers. Here, our greatly improved and still improving methods of agriculture, our new and thriving manufactures, our rapidly growing cities, towns and villages.
From our rural population come not only the tillers of our fields, who produce the things absolutely needed to supply our great commercial marts with all that vast trade needs, and keep the wheels of our great factories in motion, but from the country there flow into our great centers of population those who supply the infusion of fresh blood and brain power without which our cities and towns would soon decay and perish from the earth. Prosperous farmers make prosperous merchants and manufacturers, who, in their turn, infuse into the country vim and enterprise.

The Syrup Industry.

We are glad to see that new interest is being manifested in the sirup-making industry of South Georgia.

Already some of the best table sirup made in the United States goes forth from Thomas and adjoining counties.
That, which has been refined and put in cans and shipped from Thomas ville, Cairo, Quitman and other Geo-gia towns, has been pronounced by many to have the best flavor of any sirup that finds its way into the markets of the United States.

It is with great pleasure that we note that the United States government which last year appropriated $20,000 to the development of the new Georgia industry intends to double that appropriation for the present year.

The Department of Agriculture has ever been active in its efforts to promote the growth of the sugar and sirup industry of Georgia, and is pleased to acknowledge the great help given to this cause by Captain D. G. Purse, secretary of the Board of Trade of Savannah.

Some Thoughts About Georgia's Ag- ricultural Wealth.

We are satisfied that Georgia's agricultural wealth is just in the dawn of its development. Not long ago in our city a lecture was delivered by Dr. Conwell, of Philadelphia, who looked for his subject "An Acre of Diamonds." He began with a story told him by a Persian camel driver during one of his journeys in the Orient.
There was a man, so the story went,
who became very much discontented with his farm, so he sold out and went into a distant country to search for diamonds. Now the purchaser of his farm was a very observant man and one day he noticed in a certain acre of his land a black substance which contained under their unprepossessing exterior something which sparkled in the light with great intensity. Taking one of the pieces to an expert, he was informed that he was the possessor of an exceedingly rich field of diamonds. This, said the guide, was the beginning of the famous fields of Golconda. The Observant man thus became immensely wealthy, while the one who sold out and went abroad in search of fortune, perished miserably at last in a foreign land.

One need not go far to seek the moral of this story; for often at our own homes we have the means of wealth, if we are diligent and observant, not neglecting the opportunities at our very door.

The Agricultural College.

Speaking of Georgia's agricultural development reminds us of the State's Agricultural College. The legislature having decided that it shall remain a while longer, at least, in its present location, let all Georgians resolve to assist its able president and professors in their effort to make it a power for good to the farmers. Many of the best bulletins on various agricultural subjects that come to this department are from the Agricultural College connected with the Universities of our sister states. If we can shake our single Agricultural College a success, then it may establish successful branches in proper locations in our state. Agriculture is a science and the man who, after growing up on his father's farm, and acquiring practical experience, adds to this a thorough knowledge of agricultural chemistry, will understand the needs of various plants and how to make the soil supply the food which they require for healthy and profitable growth. While every young man has not the means to attend an agricultural college, those who can, if they improve their opportunities, may spread among their neighbors the knowledge which they have acquired. Every settling farmer may thus become an apostle of progress and bless his day and generation.

O. B. STEVENS,
Commissioner.

"The Six Weeks' Teachers Course."

We are glad to see that the college authorities have established a training course for rural school teachers of this section. We know that there are many teachers who are not able to go to college and take an extended course, but who are anxious, after their schools are over, to take a short course in some institution. To our mind the course outlined below by Prof. Stewart will meet this demand; and we predict that the first year many teachers will avail themselves of the offer. The course will begin April 28th and close June 6th. The entire cost for board, laundry, room rent, and fees for the six weeks, will not exceed $10.00. The girls' dormitory can accommodate about thirty young ladies, and everything furnished except towels and bed coverlets, and the boys' dormitory can accommodate about twenty young men. In addition to these accommodations there are several neat two room cottages which may be had free of rent to parties or families who prefer to bring their own furniture and do their own cooking. If this is done the only cost to the student will be $1.00 fee for the six weeks.

It is intended that a thorough review of the common school studies be made, each under a special professor. The program will be independent of the regular college classes. These will go on as if there were no short course.
The following courses will be given:

Arithmetic, under Prof. Barnes and Prof. Boyd; Grammar, under Miss Clark and Prof. Brittain; History and Civil Government under Prof. Steed and Prof. Garner; Reading, elocution and voice culture under Miss Baright; Penmanship, under Prof. Ansted; Geography and nature studies under Prof. Rogers; Physiology and hygiene under Prof. Gilliard; Theory and practice of teaching under Pres. Stewart and Supt.
Brittain; Industrial, Miss Margaret Murphy.

This work will be in classes
where the teachers will not be lectured to, but actually engaged in recitation as in any other school.

In addition to this class work, Supt. Brittain of Atlanta, will be with us two weeks, State School Commissioner Merritt will be with us a week, beginning the fourth of May, Ex-State School Commissioner Glenn will be with us a week, and Commissioners Roberts, Henley, Vandiver, Attaway, Mauney, Edwards and Seabolt have been invited to meet State School Commissioner Merritt and confer upon educational matters in this section and also to deliver one or more lectures each.

It is proposed to have at least two lectures a week on general matters. The teachers who attend this short course will be allowed to select those subjects that they especially need instruction in, and upon application may take work in the regular college classes. The college library will be open to these special students and they will have the use, if necessary, of the laboratories and farm experiments.

Commissioner Merritt states that he proposes to grade his questions so that the teachers who expect to make a first grade license must be thoroughly posted on the elementary common school studies, Pages Theory and Practice of Teaching, Remarks Methods and Georgia Syllabus; while those who prepare for a state license must have a knowledge of physical geography, elementary physics, history and philosophy of education.

We hope to see from fifty to seventy-five teachers take advantage of this six weeks' course.

From what we know of the professors, and from a conversation with Pres. Stewart we are sure that they will have the best opportunity offered in the state for special preparation for the state examination.

between Guatemala and Salvador is inevitable. They report that prominent residents of Guatema-his term. They say the inference is the general Toledo will, if he desires, be placed at the head of the government.

How would it do to bring suit

cruelty to animals? Their guilt can be easily established. Its cruel easy to go round it. Any sensible dence.—Harmony Grove Citizen.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve brings rest and sweet sleep to the tired brain worn out with the cares and anxieties of the sick room.
Read the following:
"I have always been healthy with the exception of a touch of rheumatism since my first came on, up to the time of my husband's last illness some years ago. I assisted in nursing my husband for nearly three months when he departed this life and the mental strain I think caused my trouble. Aside from extreme nervousness my trouble consisted of a touch of rheumatism. Mental strain and the nervous condition of my stomach soon told upon my general health. I had little appetite and was overworked to stay in bed a greater part of the time. Within a week after the first I began taking Dr.
Miles' Restorative Nerve and Tonic. I was up about the house. I continued their use until completely cured. My faith in Dr.
Miles' Remedies has been strengthened by experience of other people, one daughter having used Restorative Nerve with splendid results in a case of paralysis and a friend to whom I sent a box of the Anti-Pain Pills reports that she has been completely cured of neuralgic rheumatism. I know of a number of others whom your medicine has helped in a large degree. I wish you continued success."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

It stops the cough and heals the lungs and prevents a cold from settling on your lungs and resulting in Pneumonia, Pleurisy, or Consumption.

You are in no danger of serious results if FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR is taken,
as it soothes and heals the inflamed air pas-

Be sure and get FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, as preparations containing opiates stop the cough temporarily by paralyzing the nerves in the throat and leave the germs of serious lung trouble and you get one cold on another because the first one was not cured perfectly.

The Sturges Mine in North Carolina.

These properties are located in the counties of Franklin and Nash, state of N. C. The Sturges property contains 300 acres, and the White House property contains 480 acres.

This is the best mine I ever saw. The belt runs through both properties and is about one mile wide, a soft saprolite formation. There is one vein that runs through the property that is twelve feet thick, which runs from $2.50 to $5.00 per ton and it can be worked at the expense of 50 cts per ton. There are other veins on each side of that one that are worth much more. The distance covers one mile and a half of placer mining. The reason this placer mine has not been worked is because they did not have water sufficient to work it. There has been about 20 acres of the surface lightly skimmed over. The mine's statements show a million dollars that were taken out before the war of '61, and there has been equally as much taken out since that time.

The veins on this property have never been worked to any extent. The reason why it has not been in active operation is because the parties that owned the White House property filed a bill of injunction and stopped them from tailing on their property. This property was lately sold at an administrator's sale and we now have control of it. I have lately been prospecting on it and it will stand the test of any geologist or expert in the United States, for I have been mining for the last 33 years and I think that I know something about it.

There is a large creek which is the line of the property. It is fine timbered land. This property will have to be worked by a pumping station. It is well worth one hundred thousand dollars.

The above is but a short sketch of this mine.

W. J. LOVELESS.

About Advertising.

In a late issue of the Franklin (N. C.) Press, Feb. 18th, a statement is made of the amount of advertising in that paper, to-wit: Eleven stores—only one advertise. Ten manufacturers—none advertise in the paper. Eight lawyers in town, and two advertise in the paper, and four doctors, and none advertise. In the county, there lives about twelve thousand people, only two and a half per cent of this number subscribe for the Press.

As the railroad is to be completed to Clayton by the 4th of July, and the road under contract to the N. C. line, in Tennessee Valley, the business men of Franklin, N. C., may be inspired to advertise more liberally in their home paper, the Press.

I am glad to state that the town papers here are liberally patronized.

This is a very poor showing for Franklin and Macon county, indeed—my old native county I was brought up in. I was very much surprised to hear that the business men of the town and county could do no better for their home paper in advertising, and thereby help to sustain one of the very best county papers that I know of anywhere.

I think we can make a better showing in our town and county in the spirit of advertising in our two weekly papers at Dahlonega than is here stated. We have in our little city 20 stores and business houses, ten of which advertise in one or both of our weekly papers. Four doctors, three advertise. Seven lawyers, five advertise.

This brought to my mind that I had not advertised, of which I am agent of the Standard dictionary, one of the very best in print, containing about 800,000 words and phrases defined. I trust that all our professors in college and schools, will purchase a copy from me, as well as all other professional and business men in our city and county. If they will all do so, I will be benefited very much. Come and see a copy of the book. I think it will give full satisfaction to any who will purchase. DR. N. F. HOWARD.

Where Prosperity Counts.

All reports are to the effect that the farmers of the South, especially those in the cotton belt, are in a prosperous condition. This is more encouraging than the finest bank statement Wall street ever seen issued. The prosperity of the country at large depends almost entirely upon the condition of the tillers of the soil, for in their ability to buy is wrapped up the consumption of supplies, which means the employment of mill and factory hands.

Financiers discourse learnedly on the influence which gold exportation has upon the business situation, and speculate upon the effect of this or that move in the financial world, but behind it all stands the most important factor in American business—the farmer.

Many clever and astute articles have been written to show why the present remarkable era of prosperity should continue or should give place to panic and ruin. I trust that the most encouraging indications yet noted of a continuance of the present satisfactory state of the business world.—Newport News Press.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, MARCH 12, 1903.
Entered at the Postoffice, Ga. P. O.
as Second Class Matter.
Official Organ of both City and County.

Atlanta claims a population of 150,000.

A negro has been arrested in Atlanta for stealing gas.

Several negroes at Dougherty in Dawson county, have the small pox.

Near Asheville, N. C., the petrified body of a soldier has been unearthed.

Jeffries and Corbett will fight in California some time in July or August.

The heavy snow storm in Texas
last week caused much distress.
Thousands of cattle died.

Jim Palmer has been acquitted of the murder of Zadrick Will-banks in Habersham county.

Some of the Atlanta ministers gave "Ben Hur" a good deal of free advertising by their criticism
in the pulpit last week.

The other cases against the 13 negro thieves, who were recently fined $100 in one case each against them, will be tried on the 14th.

M. A. Carl, of Edwardsville, Ill., dreamed one night last week that he saw a picture of death for him,
and sure enough the next night
he was murdered by footpads.

In Alabama Rufus Mack, a wife beater, swore that he would forever leave his wife for the sum of $7.00. He has to work out a sentence of 30 days first on the rock pile.

Charles Jeffcoats, Alias Chas.
Johnson, who was wanted in Swainsboro, Ga., for the murder of deputy sheriff Flanders a short time ago, was shot to death in Alabama last week by officers who were trying to arrest him. He was also wanted for murder in South Carolina. There was a reward of $1,000 in Georgia for the outlaws arrest.

State attorney Hart reverses a ruling of former attorney general and states that state bonds are not taxable. There are $350,000 worth of these bonds held by citizens of Georgia and if state tax alone was imposed it would mean $35,000 annually in the state treasury and cities could also collect taxes.

Robert Tatum of Dawson county, was bitten on the arm last week by a mad dog. Mr. Tatum was working in a ditch when the dog was on him before he knew it, badly biting one arm. Then it passed on snapping at everything
it met until reaching Mr. Turner Catts where it bit at one of his little children and knocked out three of the child's front teeth and made its escape.

There was a desperate attempt at highway robbery in the center of Johannesburg one day last week.
Two men attacked two custom officers conveying $25,500 to the bank, and, throwing pepper in their eyes, secured the money bags which they threw to a horseman, who galloped off. The horseman in his flight knocked down a man named Brandon, who was fatally injured and soon expired. Subsequently the horse bolted and unseated its rider, who was then arrested and the money was recovered.

The Atlanta News of last Friday
with a cartoon explained Mr.
Roosevelt's intentions in a nut shell.
With the bits in a big buck negro's mouth the president is sitting stride of his neck, wearing a large pair of spurs, pulling the bride reins and kicking with all his might, making his way direct to the national convention hall of 1904. Now if Mr. Hanna does not overtake Mr. Roosevelt in a negro pension chariot and offer
such inducements as will cause Roosevelt to be thrown, he will reach his destination in safety.

A negro paper is started in Mississippi in the interest of Mr.
Hanna for president.

Ten thousand head of cattle perished in Kansas last week on account of the snow.

The congressional appropriations amount to a billion and a half. Pensions being $139,847,- 000.

The annual convention of the county school commissioners will be held this year at Macon April 14, 15 and 16.

$12,000 was raised at one church in Atlanta last Sunday for the purpose of building a million dollar University to be located in that city.

At Greenville, S. C., last week, Rev. C. W. Clifton, who claims to be from Hartwell, Ga., was arrested charged with theft. Shoes and other articles belonging to a firm were found in his room.

Frank Berry was fined $10 and cost in Gainesville last week because he endeavored to coax another man's wife off from home.
Propositions are costly in Gainesville for a man of limited means unless he wants to go to the chain gang.

It cost John Stone in Atlanta
last week a fine of $50.75 for kissing a negro, and being unable to pay it was sent to the rock pile for 30 days. So those loving negroes well enough to kiss them had better be careful hereafter.
The woman is also breaking rock
for the same length of time.

Another member of the Watson family, who lived on Mr. R.
Smith's farm, near Oakwood, died from small pox last Thursday night and was buried Friday afternoon. The deceased was a boy nearly grown. This is the fourth death to occur from small pox in this family. The entire family consisting of eleven members, have had the disease in a peculiarly magnificent form. —Gainesville Eagle.

It is announced that Governor Terrell may have to borrow the money with which to pay some of the old soldiers and widows their pensions. If it becomes necessary to do this it should be done promptly. All deserving pensioners should have their money—and no other sort should be on the pension roll, remarks the Columbus Sun, with whom we agree.

It seems that our remarks about colored men holding office has caused some of the negro loving republicans to curl up their tails and stop their NUGGET. To them we extend our thanks for past patronage. Because we can't look through a piece of smoked glass and prefer a negro in office to a white man doesn't cause us to fall out with them. All people's tastes are not alike.

In a week or ten days the electric cars will be running over the Green street line of the company.
All the material for switches, trolley work, etc. is here, and yesterday morning Captain Kidd commenced putting in the switch at Green street. The track has been laid to the standpoint, and if the weather remains good it won't take but a few days to get everything in shape to run the cars on the street. —Gainesville News.

The following, which was marked "Stolen," appeared in a Missouri paper of recent date and is published in the Chattanooga Times. It is good enough to steal again: "How dear to my heart is the steady subscriber, who pays in advance at the birth of the year;
who lays down his money, and does it quite gladly, and cast around the office a halo of cheer.
He never says 'Stop it, I cannot afford it,' nor 'I'm getting more papers than I now can read'; but always says 'Send it, the family likes it, in fact, we all think it a real household need.' How welcome he is when he steps in the sanctum, how he makes our hearts
throb, how he makes our hearts dance. We outwardly thank him, we inwardly bless him, the steady subscriber, who pays in advance."

A bill pending before the Pennsylvania legislature proposes that mothers of six or more children shall receive a medal and a bounty from the state. For six children $10 is to be given, for twelve children $25 and for fifteen children $50. A gold medal goes with each gift of money. If this was to become a law in Georgia it would burst the state.

The first serious accident on the Gainesville street railway occured when a heavily loaded tool car, with several men upon it, ran over Thomas Brown, a straw boss of the company's force, and fearfully mangled him. His legs were broken in several places, and he was otherwise seriously hurt. He may die.

For some time many of the citizens of Gainesville have hooted
at the idea of a railroad being built from that place to Dahlone-ga but we are glad to see one man that is willing and free to confess that it will come. It is Prof. C.
G. Ogburn, principal of the high school of that city who recently stated while in Macon, Ga., the following: We have recently completed a splendid street railway system. There are three miles of track in the city, which is built with the best material and equipped with fine rolling stock. The system is called the Gainesville and Dahlonega Electric company, of which Gen. A. J. Warner, of Chicago, president, the stock also being owned for the most part by northern men. Before the work is finished the track will be laid to Dahlonega, a distance, of 25 miles.

The Closing Day of Oak Grove School.

Ed. NUGGET:
Will you allow us space in your paper for the closing of our school?

We must say that everything went off very nicely in every respect, notwithstanding the day was very unfavorable, but considering the rough weather, we had a large attendance.

In the forenoon we had a "ring" spelling match, which was sure very interesting.

In the afternoon was recitations by most of the students, which of course was nice. Besides the students there was a number of other visitors, and parents, too. Our County School Commissioner, J.
J. Seabolt, gave us a long and very instructive talk, which no doubt will long be remembered, and if we will just practice what he told us, I am sure we will never regret it. Yes, he dropped some thoughts that will be stamped on our hearts "In letters of Gold" that will never be forgotten.

Our dear teacher gave us a noble talk. We must give our thanks to our teacher, he has been so very kind to us and has done all in his power to advance his pupils. We cannot honor nor respect him too much. We welcome him in our neighborhood. We sincerely desire for Mr. Pruett to have a pleasant vacation and be blessed with the richest blessings and safe return in the fall.

To the visitors: We are glad to have you visit us on Friday afternoon. Come! We welcome all.
The parting hymn was: "When the roll is called up yonder," which of course was touching to every one present, then prayer by Rev. J.
W. West.

So the day was a day of real enjoyment to all.
For fear this will reach the waste basket, we will bid you adieu.

Miss Irene Bailey of Dawson

Mr. James Phillips is building him a residence just out side the

We have just learned that the Baptist minister called the seats at the court house the buzzard roost.
Will reply next week.

Mr. Maxwell, who went to Mexico about three weeks ago to examine a smelter for the Consolidated Co., has not been heard from yet, although it is time for him to be back.

Gentlemen, those having legal advertising will please remember that the fees are due in advance.
The law fixed it. We didn't, and we are not going to deviate from the rules or law.

That's right gentlemen, continue sending in your renewals and risk no chance of having your subscription to the NUGGET being cut off, thereby losing sight of what is going on in this prosperous country of ours.

The citizens are subscribing
very liberally towards the fund which goes for the purpose of replenishing the public school at this place, which we suppose will continue free to pupils of the school.

Curry school closes to-morrow and an interesting program has been arranged to begin at 10 o'clock. Col. Price and others will make addresses. A short memorial will be made in honor of the late Honorable J. L. M. Curry, in whose honor the school was named.

Some preachers have the impudence of a brass monkey. They will insult an editor to his face and then go to his house during his absence and offer up a great long winded prayer. Of course the contribution basket is sent next.
Such combination business as this is not effective and his prayer goes no higher than you can throw a cat by the tail.

Local News.

And it rains, it rains, it rains.

Cabbage dull here at any price. Mr. F. L. Reese has had electric lights put in his store.

Corn by the hundred bushel brought 72 cents here last week.

Mr. L. A. LaPrade of Atlanta, is up on a visit to relatives and friends.

Messrs. Miller and Tower were up a short while from Auraria last Monday.

Mr. C. W. Satterfield has been to Atlanta this week to lay in his stock of goods.

Mr. Lilly, of Dawson county, was up this week, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ora.

It is reported that Mr. J. T. Miller of Auraria, is negotiating for the Ratless Palomour farm in Dawson county.

We have received a beautiful assortment of visiting and other cards, which we can sell you cheap either blank or printed.

Mr. Tate returned from Tennessee last Sunday, where he went to purchase some mules, but he found none for sale that suited him.

A good many of the peaches in this section have been killed in the bud but there will be plenty yet if they are not hereafter killed.

A daily mail is needed from Gadsden to this place. The matter has accumulated so that it is too much for the every other day route.

We are informed that the new residence of Mr. A. W. Meaders, formerly of Dahlonega but now of Watkinsville, Ga., was blown away recently by a cyclone.

Parties here interested in the electric line, informs us that they already have the cross ties and rails, and by this time doubtless are laying track from Gainesville to the Danlap shoals.

Mr. H. D. Gurley informs us that he has the largest and prettiest stock of spring and summer goods ever brought to Dahlonega, having many things in the dress goods' line that are entirely new.

The heavy and frequent rains in this section have caused the farmers to be behind with their work. But this should not discourage them for there is always plenty made for both man and beast in this county.

There are too many young men in this county quitting the farm and going off to labor on public works. The present prices of farm products here were never better. There is money in farming if you will stick to it.

Five string brooms, 25c. A lot of nice embroidery, 62 1/2 yard at 55c, everlasting and easy to keep clean. Ten qt. milk buckets, 85c. Eastern Early Rose potatoes, 35c a peck. Some odd numbers in winter shoes at a low price. Cashmere Bouquet toilet soap, 15c. Ladies kid gloves, $1.50 grade 98c.

B. R. MEADERS & SONS.

A post office has been established out at Cavender's creek mine named "Wild," with Mr. F. H. Brown as postmaster, who will take charge as soon as his bond reaches the department and is accepted. A daily mail from Stay, via, this new office has been established to connect with the new Gainesville and Dahlonega mail route as soon as it goes into effect, 25th inst.

For several days past a certain beautiful country girl could be seen going from house to house in search of work and a place to stay. She had been deceived and ruined by some scoundrel who she said was now in Fulton county jail serving out a sentence for blackjacking. No one wanted her, and after effort after effort was made to get conveyance back to a relative in the country, found a sympathetic man with a big heart in town who was willing to send her. Men guilty of ruining young girls ought to be in hell in place of a county jail.

Mr. Daniel Howell is still very low and cannot last long unless there is a change.

We had the pleasure of shaking hands with Dr. Baber and Mr. J. B. Thomas of Dawsonville, this week.

On last Sunday in the upper portion of this county Mr. Sanford Collins was wedded to Miss Queen Collins by Rev. Marion Kidley.

Prof. Gaillard informs us that the rainfall for February was the most it has been except one time in ten years, being 14 inches. A few years ago in August it was 15 inches.

FRUIT TREES.—We are now prepared to furnish 2 years' old trees at $12.50 per hundred of any variety. A stand guaranteed. 2t

FITTS & BROOKSHIER.

Col. Charters and Stenographer Swain returned from Clarksville this week where they had been attending the Superior Court of Habersham—the week before at Clayton.

Mr. F. C. Catchings of Gainesville, the electrician for the Crown Mountain Co., came up Sunday to repair some electrical work that was damaged by the storm of Saturday afternoon.

The celebration of Geo. Washington's birth day by the school children was postponed here until last Monday night. It took place at the college. The chapel was crowded to its utmost to witness the interesting exercises.

The mocking bird, which has visited Dahlonega for many seasons and furnished the prettiest songs of any bird on earth, was killed by some naughty boy the other day. The marshal is making an effort to find the guilty party.

Mrs. Strickland requests us to that she is again in charge of her millinery business at the same old stand where she wishes the patronage of her old customers and as many new ones as desire any thing in her line. The lady will leave for Atlanta Monday to select her spring stock and have it on hand in due time for the season.

Tax Collector Frank Wimpy made his final settlement with the state and county last Monday which winds up his business as an official. About $80 were paid in to the county treasurer but it is no doubt gone by this time and this office is without funds and the county's business will either have to be run on a credit or the ordinary borrow money and pay interest.

Last Thursday morning Mr. Charlie Beasley, residing a few miles above Dahlonega, left home while under the influence of liquor and at last accounts had not been heard of. A search was made last Sunday but no trace of him could be found. Charlie has been wedded twice and being unable to get along with his last wife lived with his first wife's children, the mother of which is dead. He had no cause to leave that any one knows of. Some think that he may be drowned.

Women would make good newspaper persons if they wouldn't tell all they know. They couldn't keep a secret though until their paper came out. So if you ever have a secret never tell it to one. A dozen of them can get together and all talk on different subjects at the same time and the next day each one can tell what the other said, with a few exceptions. Some take a delight in talking about each other and often too when the "skillet can't call the pot black," or at least ought not to. And those among them not realizing that they have a note in their own eye, should read the seventh chapter of Proverbs. Now, man can keep a secret better than women. No longer than last Tuesday we saw a married man slapping a woman's jaws, playing with them like a kitten with a rat, but we are not going to say anything about it.

Mrs. F. D. Beartfield has been quite sick for some days.

Mr. John Hatfield has sold out his mercantile business to Mr. Charlie Satterfield.

The daily mail, via, Beardsen bridge to Gainesville, will take effect March 25th. On Sunday no stop will be made at any of the way offices.

Only one fight occurred among the boys who left here last week for Tennessee before they arrived at Blue Ridge, being Arthur Sullivan and Hardie Reese, resulting in Hardie reaching that place with a lip swollen a little out of shape.

Mr. J. S. Walker of Nobility, Texas, formerly of Lumpkin county, writes us that there has been so much rain in his section for the past three or four months, causing the ground to get so sticky that but little traveling has been done.

All our citizens here interested in the electric railway railroad are highly pleased with the success of the street line, now in operation in Gainesville. They ought to be, when one car during the month of February averaged from $25 to $30 per day, and this liberal patronage still continues.

H. D. Gurley has just returned from Atlanta, where he went to select his spring goods, who has received them and is ready to show and convince the people he has one of the nicest lot of spring goods ever brought to Dahlonega. The ladies should go and select from his large and beautiful line of dress goods before they are picked over.

Col. Price has invited Rev. Sam Jones to come to Dahlonega and preach some time in the near future. Sam has refused to visit places much larger than Dahlonega and will not likely appear until he can come whizzing over the hills comfortably seated in an electric car with his battery well charged with ridicule and abuse for many who go to hear him through curiosity more than anything else.

Mr. W. P. Price wishes to announce this week that his spring dry goods and shoes have arrived ready for the trade, and at prices that will make it of interest to the purchaser. The goods cannot help but please, for he went to Atlanta and made a careful selection and has been in business long enough to know how to suit his customers. Call and examine goods and get prices. No trouble to show goods.

A drove of wild geese were seen to pass over last Saturday. It used to be said by old people that when they passed over winter was at an end, but we have seen many a cold day the same season wild geese were observed on their journey. There is one thing certain, last Saturday was one of the worst days they ever traveled in—twice during the day being as dark as it ever gets long after sunset, something that seldom ever occurs nearer than the city of London.

We published a list of persons last week intending to go to Tennessee from this section with Mr. Thomas Ray, but as all didn't go we give the names of those sent us by this gentleman from Two Run after they had got together and are now at Beaver Ridge, Tenn, if you wish to correspond with any of them, to-wit: Geo. McGee, W. H. Porter, Geo. Barges, Ed. Barges, A. F. Chapman, P. L. Komer, N. D. Jackson, J. W. Baker, J. A. Sullivan, Frank Worley, Floyd Brookshier, Tom Johnson, Hardie Reese, N. D. Phillips, A. M. Benson, Wm. Jackson, Frank Adams, Newman McDougald, S. Y. Bowen, Good Free, B. H. Lance, Wm. Brookshier, Wm. Rail, J. R. Christian, Albert Peck, J. A. Garner, T. F. Grizzle, J. D. Hollway, R. H. Moore, Frank Hood, Allen Anderson, Ollie Jones. A few others joined him after.

Mr. Will Hartman, formerly of Dahlonega, is now located at Thomaston, Ga.

Those owing John Hatfield are requested by him to come in and settle at once, as he needs the money.

"Shotgun" Walker had Miss Delpha Lewis put in jail last night, charged with stealing $10 from him.

Robert Turner of this county, was bound over last Thursday by Com. Baker, charged with working in an illicit distillery.

Mr. Thomas Tate, after being down the county selling stock since Christmas, returned home last Thursday night.

Martin Guerrin, against whom Robt. Patton got a judgment of $50 recently, for securing him a wife, has paid off the claim and thus ends the first suit of the kind on record.

T. J. Smith & Bro. have received their spring goods and notions. Besides Eastern seed potatoes, white fish and mullet. Call and examine them before making your purchases.

The Gainesville mail back broke down three miles from town Thursday evening and was late getting in. The driver secured a wagon wheel from Tom Clark and came in slow but sure.

"Apple Jack," on Tuesday of last week chewed the end of a corn cob, the effects of which caused him to remain in bed all day Wednesday, and he failed to appear in print Thursday.

How funny! A fellow, who claimed to be too poor to advertise, asked us the other day to do all we could to get the people to advertise for summer visitors. We are willing to do our part, but don't wish to do all the work for nothing.

Mr. Joseph Rider made a temporary bond here last Thursday for his appearance before U. S. Com. Baker next Monday, charged with running or being interested in an illicit distillery that had been run in his field some time ago by the revenue officers.

Look out for them! We understand that a certain merchant in Dahlonega is selling mountain Irish potatoes for Eastern seed. As we stated last week there is a difference in the skin of these potatoes. That of the Eastern seed being thinner than those grown in the mountains, though they may not be no larger.

The other day in Dahlonega a negro found two love letters above the door in his premises to his wife from an admiring lover, causing him to get a little mad and say that he would give the fellow "down the country" the next time. It is strange that some people are so easy to get mad.

We are glad to state that the report some weeks ago that Prof. Martin, principal of the public school here, would not be an applicant for re election, is only a rumor. The professor has looked after the interest of the school so well that the trustees are not going to give him up as long as he wants the position, we are happy to state, for it would be a hard matter to get a man to fill his place—we mean to discharge the duties of such a position.

In reply to parties asking our private opinion about certain mines here, we will state that we publish the reports each week as correct as they can be obtained and wouldn't be guilty of publishing one thing and writing privately another. We have no individual interest in any of the mining operations here and do not mean to misrepresent them one way or the other, for false reports of any kind scarcely ever fail to react and do more harm than good.

Dock Mooney of this county, was bound over to Lumpkin Superior court last week, charged with stealing a hog belonging to Mr. John Bennett.

The road commissioners of this district held their first court here last Saturday to try some defaulters, but no one was hurt, as the defendants were either too old or too young.

Mr. Sherman McCollum of Union, passed through Dahlonega last week with his family on his way to Texas to permanently locate, accompanied by a son of Mr. Jonas Woody.

One old man in this county, after making frequent applications for a state pension and has been turned down every time, now says he is going down to see the governor about it.

Mrs. Wallace has traded the stock of millinery goods back to Mrs. Strickland, who is now in charge of the business at the same stand, next door to Price's store.

The NUGGET is read by people both far and near. It has found its way to the Philippine Islands, and a gentleman told us the other day that he intended it should visit him in England.

Mayor Baker is going to make it hot for some of the road hands who left last week for Tennessee to work on the railroad without paying their street taxes after being notified, when they return.

The city authorities have made a contract with Mr. Wash Jenkins to keep up the four main roads leading from Dahlonega to the mile post this year, for the sum of one hundred dollars.

We wish to state to the press who are advertising "Rheumatism Cured at Last" for Victor Rainbolt, Bloomfield, Ind., that he is a fraud, because he won't pay his bills according to contract, not even replying when written to about them.

Last week little Tom McGee, a son of Mr. J. E. McGee, left home and run away rather than to be reprimanded by the school teacher for some disobedience. His father followed for a number of miles but the son gave him the dodge, and Tom is now likely in Tennessee.

As soon as they commence on this end of the railroad to Gainesville and all these big mining companies get their canals completed and begin running on full time, Dahlonega will be one of the liveliest places in Georgia. This you will see if your life is only spared a short time now.

We are glad to state that all the old confederate veterans taking the NUGGET, came up promptly and made it interesting to you editor but one, when they received their money from the state last week. We take it for granted that a man who is not prompt in paying on his word now, was not very active when a battle came up and of but little good to his country then.

A gentleman informed us last Friday that while he was returning to his home near Porter Springs a few days ago, he met a man coming in this direction totting a woman astride of his neck, who, upon being asked where they were going, said that they were coming to Dahlonega after a box of Railroad snuff. It may be that the carrier tired out before getting many miles, for we didn't hear of their arrival.

The post master at this place has been furnished with a lot of blanks from the department to fill out, giving the number of people residing on each route in this county with the understanding that when the present mail contracts expire the rural mail delivery will go into effect, that is persons living on each line put into a box will have their mail delivered. This will necessitate every mail carrier to be so he can read writing. As it is, there are a number of them employed now that can't which should induce all boys to see the necessity of an education.

Mining Notes.

Mr. Sovey has a force of hands doing placer work down at the Briar Patch, running two shifts and making big money. The gravel being worth $1.50 to the pan.

Mr. F. V. Moore has gone out to Cavender's Creek mine this week where he has the last contract on the canal. He expects to work 30 or 40 hands and push the work through as fast as possible.

The old Calhoun still keeps in the front rank of the mining column. It has been paying well heretofore, but recently a large streak of rich seven foot gravel has been struck, which will greatly increase the profits.

We are informed that Mr. Ashley has his dredge boat at work in Dawson county by a new crew. We trust that this gentleman will begin to make some money now, for he has made a big outlay of cash for the proper machinery.

At the pyrites mine, between 25 and 30 men are employed, making splendid progress in the shaft. It has reached a depth of about 130 feet, near 100 of this being ore. The pump was put in position Saturday, which will enable them to get along faster and easier.

The Croighton Mining and Milling Co's property in this county, consisting of the old Franklin gold mine and machinery and appurtenances, was sold Tuesday of last week under a decree of the U. S. court at Receiver's sale to the highest bidder and was bought by Howard M. Hooper, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for $12,200.—Canton Advance.

Mr. Ricketts is now engaged in building the new dredge boat for Messrs. Ingersoll & Crisson, for the Chestatee river, which takes the place of the old Birch boat, the timber of which got so rotten that they were unable to run it any longer. The purchasing of this old boat was one of the most profitable gold mining investments ever made in this section. It paid from the first to the last and removed thousands and thousands of pennyweights of gold from the bed of the Chestatee river.

The Crown Mountain plant has been moving along all right for some time, with the exception of a little delay Saturday afternoon and Monday, caused by lightning. The pump throws all the necessary water since last repaired, giving no trouble whatever, and the results for the next clean-up are bound to be good, as the plates, during the short run are looking better than they did at the last one. Those interested need not have any fear of the success of this mine, because arrangements are being made to put the pump in such a condition that it will have to run, this having been the trouble for some time.

From Cavender's Creek Mr. J. J. Wild writes as follows, under date of the 9th: Pay day, rainy day and Sunday seen 14 hours long, especially to the boys in camp who can't get enough dinner. "Lee says Sunday comes but once a week and he must have one square meal, and Charlie has gone to see his best girl. Painter and Charlie are still scratching around as usual. The works on the Cavender's Creek Gold Mining Co's property is moving along very nice. About 5 miles of the canal cut. The contractors are pushing their work right along. Mr. Joseph Sparks, contractor on the long tunnel, is hustling his end of the hue. Mr. Cantrell of White, is putting up our new mill. We expect to have it running in three or four days. We have just about completed our new house, which will be occupied by the company. We are going to extend our store room at once so we can have room for our spring and summer stock. I hope it will be fair weather for awhile so we can push the work.

It appears now that there will be nine oil mills in operation next fall in this section with a radius of 80 miles, as follows: One at Bold Spring, one at Royston, two at Lavinia, one at Martin, one at Toccoa, one at Maysville, and two at Harmony grove. This means a regular tussle for seed in this section, which is good for the farmer.—Harmony Grove Citizen.

There are two classes of men in the world—those who make fools of themselves and those who don't have to.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

Things of Which Every Southern Man Should Be Proud.

The Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore, in reviewing the evidences of Southern progress during the past year, including investments of more than $50,000,000 in building new railroad mileage and of more than $20,000,000 in cotton mills, says: "To fully grasp the progress of the South, we should have to study the change which has come about by which the Southern factory is not only beginning to supply the needs of the south, but is bidding for foreign trade; we should have to measure the influence on the woodworking industry of the phenomenal success of the furniture factories of North Carolina, which are capturing the trade of this country as far as the Pacific coast and the foreign trade out to South Africa; we should have to note the rapid development of the industries to consume the home pig iron for which we have heretofore had to find a market elsewhere—the steel rail mill at Ensley, the steel car works to be built in Alabama, the success of the steel wire operations which has resulted in the plans for building the $5,000,000 plant mentioned as to be constructed at Gadsden; we should have to measure the power of the new combination of cotton mills, which will turn into this section a great amount of textile interests; we should have to note the progress of the great ship-building plant at Newport News, with contracts on hand sufficient to supply its 7,000 or 8,000 men for the next three years; we should have to take into account the great developments at southern ports in terminal facilities and the growth of the exports through Southern ports now reaching to over $500,000,000 a year or about 35 per cent of the total exports of the country. To all of these we should have to add the most vital fact, namely, the accumulated capital and the accumulated experience which the South now has as compared with the lack of capital and the lack of experience of five or ten years ago, and thus be able to form a better idea of how greatly this will count in bringing about a rate of progress far surpassing all that has been seen in the last ten years."

The Manufacturers' Record review of railroad construction during the year shows a total new mileage in the Southern States, and in Missouri, Indian Territory and Oklahoma, whose railroad systems are directly connected with Southern development, of 4,099.4. It also shows that, at least 5,157.8 miles of rail will be constructed in these states and territories during the coming year. The following table shows the mileage built in 1902 and to be built in 1903 by states:

States.	Miles built in 1902.	Miles to be built in 1903.
Alabama	211.9	213.5
Arkansas	397.3	465.5
Florida	11.9	11.9
Georgia	291.6	285
Indian Territory	639.9	401
Kentucky	57	148
Louisiana	256.2	354.7
Maryland	43	85.6
Mississippi	127	203
Missouri	220	469
N. Carolina	153	250
Oklahoma	642	571
S. Carolina	49	55
Tennessee	94.7	174.5
Texas	565.6	930
Virginia	84.1	67.4
West Virginia	123.1	457.5
Total	4,099.4	5,157.8

The construction in 1902 represents solely new lines.

The record for the year for textile progress is remarkable. It shows an addition in the South of 1,119,234 spindles and 31,667 looms.

"The low grade goods that have in the past engaged the attention of the Southern mills do not attract the new companies, but they plan for producing the finer grades of cloth. Another decided tendency is that which will eventually enable the South to finish the cloth made within its borders instead of shipping them to the northern and eastern finishing plants. Besides several isolated finishing plants there were two large ones reported in 1892, one with a capital of $2,500,000 to have branches in different localities. Established companies seem determined to keep their lead in the matter of spindles. This feature indicates that the men who have had the best and longest experience in the South know that the cotton manufacturing industry there is built on a broad and firm foundation and will in time make the South the leading cotton manufacturing section of the world."

Meanderings.

A city girl writes: It is a fond dream of mine to become a farmer's wife and meander with him down life's pathway. Ah, yes, that's a nice thing. But when your husband meanders off and leaves you without word, and you have to meander up and down the lane pulling splinters off the fence to cook dinner, and when you meander around in the wet grass in search of the cow until your shoes are the color of rawhide and your stockings are soaked, and when you meander out across 20 acres of plowed ground to drive the hogs out of the cornfield and tear your dress on a barbed wire fence, when you meander back home and find that the billy goat has butted the stuffin' out of your child, and find the old hen and forty little chickens in the kitchen, you'll put your hands on your lips and realize the meandering is not what it is cracked up to be.—Exchange.

Reason For Rejoicing.

When Wesley and Nelson were traveling through Cornwall, from common to common, preaching to a people who heard willingly, but seldom or never performed them the slightest acts of hospitality, they were frequently hungry.

"They were detained some time at St. Ives because of the illness of one of their companions, and their lodging was little better than their fare."

"All that time," says Mr. Nelson, "Mr. Wesley and I lay on the floor. He had my greatcoat for his pillow, and I had Burkitt's 'Notes on the New Testament' for mine."

"After being here nearly three weeks one morning about 8 o'clock Mr. Wesley turned over and finding me awake, slapped me on the side, saying: 'Brother Nelson, let us be of good cheer. We have much to rejoice in. I have one whole side yet, for the skin is only off one side.'"

Compulsory Bathing.

One of the most interesting sights along the Rio Grande is to see a regiment of Mexican soldiers taking a compulsory bath. It is only under compulsion that the rank and file of the army ever do bathe, and when the ceremony is in progress one half of the regiment enters the water while the other half stands guard on the bank, rifle in hand, ready to shoot down any man who attempts to desert. When the ablution has been finished, the men resume their places in line and guard their comrades while they bathe.

His Dilemma.

"Are you afraid to go downstairs and look for that man who is ransacking the house?" asked Mr. Meekler's wife.

Certainly not. I am perfectly willing to go and look for him. But, Henrietta, I'm afraid you have been making a mistake with me all these years. You ought to have developed my conversational powers more. After I find the burglar I won't know what to say to him. You'll have to stand at the head of the stairs and do the talking."

Turn About.

"These shoes, doctor," said the cobbler after a brief examination, "ain't worth mending."

"Then of course," said the doctor, turning away, "I don't want anything to do to them."

"But I charge you two shillings just the same."

"What for?"

"Well, sir, you charged me five shillings the other day for telling me there wasn't anything the matter with me."—London Telegraph.

Nearly 1200 acres of land near Hastings, Fla., have been planted in Irish potatoes this season, and the May digging is expected to realize $200,000.

R. J. Gatling, inventor of the gun that bears his name, is dead.

A reproduction of Lula Hurst, the "Georgia magnetic wonder" of some few years ago, seems to have been discovered at Port Jervis, N. Y., in the person of a little girl of 12 of the name of Stella Lundelius. She is a frail and nervous child, weighing sixty-five pounds, nevertheless four strong men, acting together, have found it impossible to raise her from the floor against her will. A touch of her hand upon the hand of a strong man seems to rob him of all his strength. By opposition, when she places her hand upon a heavy object, such as a piano, it can be easily moved by a person of no great strength. Another feature of her strange power is that she can control pain in others. Limbs stiffened with rheumatism become supple under the slightest manipulations of her small hands, and a few passes of her fingers over the forehead will cure a violent headache. These, at all events, are the claims that are made for her. If they are true, she is a remarkable child.—Ex.

Lift your hat reverently when you pass the teacher of the primary school. She is the great angel of the republic. She takes the bantling fresh from the home nest, full of pouts and passions—an unconvincible little fellow whose own mother honestly admits that she sends him to school to be rid of him. The lady who knows her business takes a whole carload of these, one of whom, singlehanded and alone, is more than a match for his parents, and it once puts them in a way of being useful and upright citizens. And at what expense of care, of toil, patience and soul weariness? Lift your hat to her!—Exchange.

What a delightful old world! this would be if all men were as perfect as they think their neighbors should be.

Grip's

Grim Grasp Caused Heart Disease.

Could Not Lie On Left Side.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cured Me.

Mrs. H. R. Jobe, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., writes from Eldridge, the same state, as follows:

"It was with the greatest pleasure that I recommend Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure. I only wish that I could tell every sufferer how much good they have done me. Last winter I had a severe attack of La Grippe, which left my heart in a very bad condition. I could not lie down for the smothering spells that would almost overcome me and the feeling of oppression around my heart. I had not been so long as I could lie on my left side for a long time. I got my Heart Cure and took three bottles. I have no trouble now with my heart and can lie on my left side as well as my right. Formerly I had suffered for years with nervous prostration. I had tried so many remedies that I had got clear out of heart of getting anything that would help me. The nerves of my heart were so affected that sometimes I would lose breath so it would seem to stop altogether. It was on the advice of a lady friend that I tried your Restorative Nerve. I felt better after the first few doses and two bottles of Nerve and one of Heart Cure made me feel like a new person. My heart is all right and my nervous system is all right. I never fail to recommend it to others afflicted as I was."

A Severe Cold For Three Months.

The following letter from A. J. Nusbbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, and eight doses cured me."

A Chattanooga Druggist's Statement.

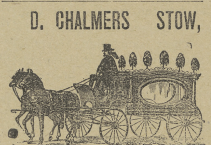

Robert J. Miller, proprietor of the Read House Drug Store, of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: "There is more merit in FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR than in any other cough syrup. The calls for it multiply wonderfully and we sell more of it than all other cough syrups combined."

Letter From Mr. James Elliott.

SODDY, TENN., March 9, 1903.
ED. NUGGET:

If you will allow space in your columns I will give you some thing of this place while I am watching the men work on an opening—that is a mouth of an entry. The smut streak is about two feet. That means coal forming the fire clay is about six feet thick under it. Now it will all play out before the coal is properly formed.

I have built 4 of a mile of railroad since the 15th of January—made a trail 25 miles, so we could get there a foot. I have five openings to face up and get ready for going under. We are opening up No. 7 seam. There are six more between us and the Big Soddy creek. We cut one 14 inches thick in making our trail. Where we went under a bluff it was third coal on No. 5 seam. It cropped out just under No. 3 bluff. For fear some one might accuse me of lying, there are 3 seams between No. 2 and 3 bluff. You can see coal fields enough from where I sit to write this letter, to keep 7 or 8 hundred men digging for one hundred years. That is, you can see the reading of the seams. The reading are bluffs. They lay horizontal through the mountain, or Waldons Ridge, as it is best known. There are ten different seams. Through it, some times there are three seams between two ledges—the formation is different to that of Northeast Georgia. There are many strange things in this formation. You can see in the bottom of the coal, petrified snakes and other animals. It was raining the other day and we all were under a bluff and I found a muscle shell in a craves, where I believe a man's hand was never before. It was 75 feet above the creek, almost straight up. I would like to read Prof. Gaillard's or any of the other professor's ideas on that shell, if they would be disposed to give it. I also have 18 inches of a petrified snake. You can see the scales of the snake on it. It came out of Little Soddy bank, about three hundred feet under the surface and about one mile and a quarter in the mountain.

They take about 8 or 9 hundred tons out of this mine per day, which employs about 800 men. This is about one mile across the Gorge from where I am opening up the new bank, on Big Soddy. I was the first to break dirt in this gulch. So no more at present.

Good will to Dahlonega and her people. Success to the NUGGET.

J. A. ELLIOTT.

And now it develops that Boston, that seat of learning, has decided to send a woman down to us to instruct the farmers of this country how to farm. And she is a real woman, too, with soft hands, white of face, divinely tall and most divinely fair. She has decided to locate somewhere in Georgia and from thence tell the farmers where and why they have failed. In passing it might be well to say that she has been the instructor of young ladies in art. As a fitting return of the favor thus conferred upon the South we should gather up the most unlearned unlettered horny-handed son of toil that we can find and send back to Boston to take the seat made vacant by this young lady.—Ex.

Cures Colds Prevents Pneumonia

Editors Thoughtful.

The following is taken from the Lexington (Ky.) Democrat, but the facts contained in it are as applicable to Georgia journalism, as that of any state:

Speaking of libel, we do not believe that there are many people outside of the insane asylum who do not know that the editor of a newspaper suppresses every day a hundred times more than he prints facts, that are derogatory to people in the community in which he lives. A newspaper of necessity prints a great many unpalatable facts, but there are items every day that never reach type, and that are not slanders, either that are suppressed because of the grief or shame they would bring to others. There are derogatory things in the lives of many people known to the editor and yet these are never printed because they do no public good and are of no general concern, and would carry with their publication only unhappiness. As dull as the newspaper often seems and lacking as they some times are there is one thing that is true—the editor never prints all he knows.

What is it Worth to You?

Did you ever stop to think how much your home paper is worth to you?

No matter how small, how insignificant your home paper may be, and whether you take it or not, it is worth more to you and does more to enhance all your property interests than any other paper—than all the other papers which come into your home.

The Atlanta Constitution is a good paper, but your home paper is worth more to you than the Constitution. The Atlanta Journal is a good paper, but your home paper is worth more to you than the Journal. The Atlanta News is a good paper, but your home paper is worth more to you than the News. Your home paper is worth more to you than all these put together. The editors of all these will say take your home paper first. These papers all give the general news and that only. Your home paper gives all the local news and enters into all the particulars—it rejoices with you in prosperity and extends its sympathy and condolence in your days of sadness and bereavement.

Your home paper is the pulse of your town, the exponent of its prosperity. Your patronage of your home paper yields better returns in dollars and cents than any other investment you may make.

The business man who withholds his patronage from his home paper is as much an enemy to his own business interests as the man who cuts off his own hand is an enemy to his own body. The farmer who takes his home paper is helping to build up his home town and make a good home market that will take all his produce at a good price.

What are you doing for your town and community? Are you tearing down or building up? Support your home paper and you will build up, withhold your support and you tear down.—Ex.

A young matron whose girlish appearance sometimes subjects her to persecutions of impudent strangers neatly rebuked one of those public nuisances in an elevated railroad train recently. He was dressed in a style that he regarded as very "fetching," and he ogled the young woman persistently. Finally he edged through the crowd until he was directly in front of her, when he bent down and lifting his hat said:

"Beg pardon, but I am sure I've met you somewhere."

"Oh, yes," began the young woman in a pleasant voice.

"Delighted!" broke in the youth, ecstatically.

"You are the young man who calls on our cook," continued the young woman in a clear voice.

"I'll tell Mary that I saw you," New York Post.

At Evanston, Ill., the other day the 17-year-old son of a preacher entered the police station with a piece of chain locked around his leg. The police broke the lock off. The boy said his father had chained him to a gas pipe, but he had broken away. On another occasion he said, his father had chained him around the neck and kept him confined in a room on bread and water for two days, forcing him to sleep on the floor. The father was sent for, and admitted that what the boy had said was true. The chaining he explained, was for the purpose of preventing the boy for going out at night. The young chap had stood out two nights as late as 10 o'clock. The police asked the preacher if he didn't think the punishment rather severe. He replied that he considered he had a right to discipline his son as he thought best.

There is no clue to the robbers. The safe was blown to scrap and the building damaged. This occurred right in the heart of the city of Atlanta.

A Washington story says that at the next session of Congress it is likely that roll-calls of the House will be made by phonograph. The idea is good. Means while, why would it not be a better idea to send phonographs to Congress in the place of some of the representatives? The service would doubtless be improved.—Savannah News.

A Swiss mechanic claims to have invented an automatic baby nurse. The apparatus is attached to a cradle. If the baby cries air waves cause specially arranged wires to operate a phonograph, which sings a lullaby, while simultaneously clock work is released and rocks the cradle. When the crying stops the wires cease to vibrate and the cradle stops rocking.

The costliest and most elaborate farm house in the United States is being erected in Rhode Island for young Mr. Reginald Vanderbilt. The man is to be married shortly, and he hopes to have the farm ready for the honeymoon. He doesn't propose that his bride shall live on the farm altogether, but just a month or two each year when it is not "the season" in town at the shore or in the mountains. The cost of Mr. Vanderbilt's farm house is to be $500,000, and its style architecture is to be the "old colonial."

One of the most prominent planters in the state is Mr. Frank W. Holt of Putnam county. For a number of years he was connected with a prominent dry goods house of Atlanta, but the last few years he has been devoting his time to his large farming operations. He is one of the largest planters of the state, if not the second largest, being to Col. James M. Smith, the Oglethorpe planter. Mr. Holt owns twenty-seven plantations in Georgia, and recently he bought a car load of mules to replenish his stock on his farm.—Ex.

Pension Commissioner Lindsey while in Macon last week remarked: "I have just about completed paying out the state appropriation to pensioners in the various counties. The ordinaries have delivered the checks, and the matter is almost wound up. There are increased applications each year by those wanting pensions. There seems to be no end to them. They are always coming in. We have to be careful in the consideration of every application. The law requires the ordinaries to inspect the records and see if the applicant has disposed of reality within four years of the time the pension is applied for. We have known of parties transferring realty to their wives, and then ask the state to give them a pension. This is a misdemeanor under the law."

"The United States against John Howell, illicit distilling," was called in the United States court at Atlanta. An old man rose from a back seat and came forward slowly. In his hand was a long, crooked stick, and his body shook as if paralysed. Upon his chin was a bunch of whiskers as white as human hair ever gets to be. He had no mustache, and this fact emphasized the in-stern of his lips caused by the utter lack of teeth. His eyes were set far back in his head, and what little hair he had was a dingy white. After several seconds of laborious walking he faced Judge Newman, who eyed the man for a few seconds, then asked: "Are you John Howell?" In a feeble, cracked voice the old man answered: "Yes, sir." "Where do you live?" "Lumpkin county." "How old are you?" "801." "Well," said the judge, "we've got evidence sufficient to convict you, but—well, go home."

Mr. McMahan of Louisville, Ky., paid our office a pleasant visit last week while in the city and passed quite a compliment on the Nugget. Yesterday a lad of Dahlonega rather than obey his father, left home for stranger fields. His father paying his way besides giving him some extra money. In the bottom of the sons valise was placed a note from the father for the boy to find when he got far away. This note told him that when he got through with all his money and "run up against a stump" and made up his mind to obey him, to write him and he would send him the money to return on. A reverend colored dignitary returned some license to the ordinary's office last week, and after presenting the papers to his official highness the Hon. Ordinary the colored individual was not fast to leave the official abode of Judge Ross. Presently he carried the Judge behind the door and whispered to him: "Is there anything in this for me?" The Judge's eyes twinkled with humor at the question of the gospel expounder. "No," said he; "there is nothing for you this year,"—Jackson Herald.

Bear in mind that if we say anything in the Nugget that offends or displeases any one that we will give twice as much space in it to reply than we use in making note of it, in order for them to explain it. We don't mean for it to be understood by any one that we wish to take the advantage of them. Isn't this proposition fair?

Alonzo Benson, our office neighbor, got back from the Tennessee railroad last night. When he reached here he was tired, hungry and his feet were so sore he could scarcely walk. When his wife met him at the door he fell into her arms and remarked, "Jane, I've been through the rube," and was heard to say no more. This should be a warning to all others thinking of leaving home.

We understand that "Uncle" Sam Jones has notified those wishing him to come to Dahlonega, that he can't make the trip. We knew that he would not. It is too small a place for him. He wants a wide territory to work in and can't afford to ride in a common hack. He goes to big places that have cars, where he can ride with his feet higher than his head. Nevertheless Dahlonega is just as religious now as it would have been had he come.

The warrant charging Miss Delpha Lewis of stealing $10 from "Shogun" Walker last week was dismissed by a compromise and the girl set at liberty. We are told that she affirms that she didn't steal it. It might have been possible that Mr. Walker lost it and the woman was not guilty, for she has bore the name of being honest up to this time. People should be certain of such things as this before they have a poor woman arrested, for it gives their character a stain that follows them to their grave.

Mining Notes.

As our Auraria and Cavender's Creek correspondents have given the mining news of their section and there being nothing new here, we will not take up any more space than to say that they are moving along nicely, no break downs have occurred in any of them for some time. Mr. Maxwell, who went to examine the smelter in Mexico for the Consolidated Co., has not returned yet, but is expected at any hour. He writes that he is favorably impressed with it after a thorough examination and will report more fully when he comes.

The United States Geological Survey will in May issue a topographical quadrangle containing all the mineral deposits in and around the gold section of Georgia known as the Dahlonega quadrangle. This map will embrace the counties of White and Towns, and a part of Union, Lumpkin, Habersham and Rabun. In speaking of this proposed map, the Geological Survey states that this is one of the richest gold mining sections in the south, and produces annually thousands of dollars worth of dust and nuggets. Up to the year 1861 a United States mint was operated near Dahlonega.—Atlanta News.

Counterfeiters in Trouble.

Mr. J. M. Wright, agent U. S. secret service, came up from Atlanta last Saturday and in company with U. S. Deputy Marshal Grizzle of this place, went out into Nimbleshill district, in this county, and gathered all the information they could about the party who has been circulating counterfeit money in that section. A warrant was soon sworn out against Jephtha Cochran, Jr., and they started in pursuit of him where he stays a portion of the time at his brother Jims, in Fannin, near Morganton, who runs a little store. And while making a search failed to find Jephtha but came across the moulds, some money and material for its manufacture in the store. Jim Cochran was arrested, carried before Com. Chastain of Blue Ridge, and bound over and is now in Fulton county jail, and a search is still being made for Jephtha, who is believed to be in this county.

Remarkable Longevity.

We see in the Dahlonega Nugget of last week that on the 29th of next May a Lodge of Sorrow will be held by Blue Mountain Lodge No. 38, F. & A. M., of that town, in commemoration of the death of members of that lodge who have died since the last Lodge of Sorrow held by that body, May 29th, 1885. The names of twenty-three brethren who died within that period are given with the dates of their birth and death, and though the Nugget made no comment on the remarkable longevity shown by this record, we were struck with it on reading the article, as we knew quite a number of them. They averaged seventy-five years. This was not a list selected from others, but was a correct list of all those members of that lodge who had died since the last meeting of the Lodge of Sorrow, and their longevity speaks well for the climate of Lumpkin county. And furthermore, we noticed in the same issue of the Nugget the death of another esteemed citizen of that county, Mr. Daniel Hyden, who died the previous week at the advanced age of one hundred and seven years. All this speaks well for our North Georgia climate.—Gainesville Eagle.

Since our last issue, we are glad to learn that the Baptist minister here, didn't refer to the court house seats directly as "buzzard roost," but said that there might be such a place in Dahlonega. The best men in the county occupy those seats, sometimes, and we make this correction with pleasure, for we are always glad to hear of a minister preaching from the Bible and not taking up his time in abusing his fellow men.

Mining and Other News About Auraria.

We are having rain almost every day and the farmers are getting very badly behind with their work. It was thought that the peaches were all killed, but if they don't get killed hereafter, we will have plenty.

Mr. Jas. A. Deadman, who recently came in from Montana, is at the home of his brother, Mr. John Hutcheson. Mr. Deadman left Lumpkin county about twenty-two years ago, and during that time has been mining in Montana and California. He has many warm friends here who extend to him a hearty welcome back to his old home.

Mr. G. H. Tanner of Atlanta, will be up in a few days to do some prospecting on his mining property near Auraria.

Considering the rainy weather, work is progressing very well on the Bear Patch ditch. Fifteen or twenty men are employed and they have about three miles of the ditch completed.

Mrs. Dave Smith and daughter, who are visiting Mrs. Wood at Auraria, will leave in a few days for Alabama. We hope they will have a safe journey to their new home.

Mr. T. A. Parker, and another gentleman of Macon, Ga., were up looking over the Summerour property last week. These gentlemen will begin operations on this mine at once, and as it is a splendid mine, they no doubt will make a success.

Mr. J. T. Miller of Auraria, has purchased the Ratliff Palmour farm, in Dawson county.

Owing to the rainy weather, work is progressing slowly at the Betz mine. A large crusher was received this week. Mr. Cameron of Philadelphia, is on the mine and Mr. Arnold is expected in a few days. This is one of the best mines in this section and has been in almost constant operation for seven or eight years.

From Cavender's Creek.

CAVENDER CREEK, GA.,
March 16, 1903.

MR. EDITOR OF THE NUGGET: Doubtless you have not heard from Cavender Creek since last week. Everything seems to be moving along nicely. The rain for the last few days, has made it tough for the boys who work on the ditch—so much mud in places. Though not a great deal of damage done to us. About ten feet of the tunnel at which Capt. Joseph Sparks is working "fell in" the other night. This did not "bluff" Capt. Joe by any means. He is a hustler, and does not allow small hindrances to discourage him in the least.

Messrs. Grizzle, Grindle, Calhoun, Uncle Virgo Moose and Col. John B. Ricketts are all contractors on the ditch, and are rushing the work with enthusiasm.

We have been told of a very amusing circumstance occurring up in Yahoola district. I don't think the man drinks, but had just about one quart of corn juice in his stomach. He said he was resting in Abraham's bosom, and going to leave this part of the world. He thought he could not live longer than nine days at best. The good lady to whom he told this, was very much troubled about his early departure. Some by-stander said to the lady: "Grieve not, for he has been drunk before."

Mr. Charlie Wild was out buggy riding with his girl. He seems to think that the roads in Georgia are "one-sided." After examining his buggy closely he found both hind wheels on the same side.

It has been reported that "Painter" tracks have been seen near Mr. Anderson's house lately; but we think the public need no fears, as it is only our pet "Painter" from the camps.

Lee's appetite is still good on Sunday. Frank Brown says when he gets to handing out mail from the new office at Wild, Ga., he expects to wear his Sunday smile, especially when the young ladies are in the office.

Col. Jones is expected back from Chicago, where he has spent some days on business.

Presence of Mind.

Black and White recalls a story of highwayman who was outwitted by a nobleman whom he waylaid. "Your money or your life!" said the hero of the road, presenting a cocked pistol at the window of a carriage on Hounslow Heath. "I would not yield to no man," responded the occupant of the vehicle, "but as there are two of you I must."

The robber, taken a back, looked round to see where the second man was and at that moment received a bullet through the heart from his intended victim.

TREATMENT OF PEACH LEAF CURL.

(By W. M. Scott, State Entomologist). Peach leaf curl is a disease which appears in our orchards in early spring, causing the young and tender foliage to thicken, curl and finally drop. Although it may occasionally be seen on the twigs, its attacks are confined principally to the leaves.

In the early part of the summer all the affected leaves are shed and nothing more is seen of the disease until the following spring. When an orchard is but slightly affected, a new crop of leaves is quickly produced and the damage is slight; but when, as frequently happens, the greater part of the foliage is involved, the tree is impoverished, the fruit crop of fruit destroyed, and future crops affected.

Prevention by Spraying.

Few fungus diseases affecting cultivated plants have proven more easily or surely prevented than the Leaf Curl of the peach. It has been demonstrated beyond question that even the worst affected orchards may, by proper spraying at the right season, be practically freed of the pest, and with a single application of the treatment. Numerous fungicides have been used and recommended, but of them all the safest and most effective has proven to be the Bordeaux mixture. This should be applied in late winter or early spring. After the buds have become swollen the germs of the fungus begin to penetrate the tissues and the treatment is therefore less effective, so that it is necessary to begin spraying in time to finish at least two weeks before the trees are likely to bloom. A little later when the young leaves have begun to push out and the evidences of the disease become apparent, it is altogether too late, and a spraying so far as the leaf curl is concerned, would be a waste of labor and material.

It is very important in spraying for this disease that every part of the tree be reached by the Bordeaux or other mixture used, for if a limb or a portion of a limb be missed the fungus will develop upon it, and thus tend to re-infect to some degree the rest of the tree.

Formula and Directions.

Bordeaux is composed of a mixture of the diluted solutions of lime and bluestone and may be prepared from the following formula:

5 pounds fresh, unslaked lime.
5 pounds bluestone (sulphate of copper).

As much as six pounds of bluestone and an equal quantity of lime may be employed with safety and perhaps advantageously in some cases. However, when it is desired to use Bordeaux for brown rot or other diseases after the foliage is out, the quantity of bluestone should be reduced to 3 pounds and that of the lime increased to nine pounds, because of the injurious effect that strong Bordeaux has upon peach foliage.

Slake the lime carefully with just enough water to reduce it to the consistency of thick cream and dilute to 25 gallons of water also. Then in a separate barrel mix the two solutions, first pouring in a bucket of one and then a bucket of the other, or better still, pouring them in simultaneously. After thoroughly stirring the mixture and allowing it to stand for a few moments it is ready to be strained into the spray pump tank.

When thus prepared, Bordeaux at its best, consisting of a fine, delicate, pale blue precipitate suspended in the water. If either or both of the ingredients should be in concentrated solution when the mixing is done the resulting Bordeaux is coarser grained, settles much more quickly and is less effective as a spray. Even the best will begin to settle quickly on standing, and it is essential that the spray pump be supplied with an agitator that will keep it stirred in the act of pumping.

The bluestone may be gotten into solution more quickly and readily by suspending it in the corner of a fertilizer sack just below the surface of the water, or by the use of a small quantity of hot water. When a considerable amount of spraying is to be done, it will be found convenient to prepare stock solutions by dissolving 25 pounds or 50 pounds of bluestone in an equal number of gallons of water, while a like amount of lime and bluestone will be secured, and the separate weighing and dissolving of the small lots be avoided. The two ingredients should never be mixed undiluted as before described.

The South For Settlers.

The Southern fields are the ones now waiting both money and muscle, capital and labor from the rich and poor for their ultimate higher development. The greater current of immigrants are now going into the North and Northwest. They have been started much like a syphon that transfers a liquid from one receptacle to another. The current is started by a principle of force and continues until one receptacle is exhausted, or until the flow has been interrupted by some other force. A town, village or city may be in an almost dormant state for years. Finally, some little current is started, values enhanced slowly at first, then gather momentum, houses rise on vacant lots, factories come, streets are sewered and paved, and the town wakes up to a new life. Then when you look back you fail to see that either climate or soil or any physical condition has changed, inducing these improvements. You only know that a current has started the great transformation. The South has all the logical conditions, and awaits the starting of proper currents to develop its bounteous resources and to enrich correspondingly the investor. If you indulge in alcoholic stimulants you will be temporarily invigorated, but when the effects have worn away your vitality may be slightly but permanently impaired. The Northwest virgin soils are fertile and yield good returns. But in time they will not yield the same results. After a few years of cultivation they have a tendency to become rapidly infested with noxious growths such as a prickly lettuce, which deplete the crops. The rigors of climate will not be lessened, but when the rains begin to yield less and the labors are increased, then will the flying sands and the high winds almost constantly prevailing be found to be much less tolerable than before. In that is the South's opportunity.

Time's Changes.

A well known artist relates that on one occasion a man came to a friend of his and asked him to paint a portrait of his father, who is dead.

"But, my dear sir," said the artist, "I never saw your father. Have you a photograph of him?"

"No," said the man, "I have not, but you never saw Moses, and yet you have a picture of him on your walls."

The argument was unanswerable, and the artist accepted the commission. When the picture was finished, the man came to see it and gazed at it with tears in his eyes and said:

"Dear me, is that father? How he has changed!"

A City of Salt.

One of the most remarkable cities in the world is Kelburg, near Cracow, Poland, for besides being situated underground, it is excavated entirely in rock salt. The inhabitants, to the number of over 3,000, are coarse workers in the famous salt mines, and all the streets and houses are of the purest white imaginable. One of the most famous features of the city is the cathedral, carved in salt and lighted with electric lights. Such a thing as infectious disease is unknown in Kelburg. In fact, the majority of the inhabitants die of old age.

A preacher in Kansas the other day delivered a brief funeral sermon in these words: "Postmortem praise and love are in the air. People kiss the dead who never stop to kiss their living. They hover over caskets in hysterical sobbing but fail to throw their arms about loved ones who are fighting the stern battle of life. A word of cheer to the struggling soul in life is worth more than the roses of Christendom piled high on the casket cover. The dead can't smell the roses, but the living can't scatter them broadcast in their path way, therefore, and pluck out the thorns before it is too late."

A Bad Place to Court.

At a circuit court in an English county town a young countrywoman was under examination.

"Now, my good girl," said the advocate, "you say you were near the spot when the prisoner at the bar committed the act. Was any one with you at the time?"

"Yes, yes, my lord ant advocate; my sweetheart was wis me."

"Courting, I suppose?" was again asked. "Is he here? We want corroborative evidence."

"Yes, my advocate ant lord; shust outside."

"We had better call him into court," here remarked the judge. "No, no, my lord!" cried the witness. "Gootness, no! I can hardly get him to court me when we're alone, and I'm sure he won't court me here afore you all."

Challenge the Accusation.

Drink water and you get typhoid. Drink milk and you get tuberculosis. Drink whiskey and you get jimjams. Eat white flour and get appendicitis. Eat soup and get bright's disease. Eat oysters and acquire toxemia. Eat beef and encourage apoplexy. Eat meats of any kind and get indigestion or some kind of germ disease. Eat vegetables and weaken the system. Eat desserts and take on paresis. Smoke cigarettes and die early. Smoke cigars and secure a nice catarrh. Drink coffee and tea and obtain nervous prostration. Drink beer and have the dyspepsia. Drink wine and get the gout. In order to be perfectly healthy one must eat nothing, drink nothing, smoke nothing, and even before breathing one should see that the air is properly sterilized. — Commercial Appeal.

Could Not Lie On Left Side.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cured Me.

Mrs. H. R. Joke, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., writes from Eldridge, the same state, as follows:

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I recommend Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure. I only wish that I could tell every sufferer how much good they have done me. Last winter I had a severe attack of La Grippe, which left my heart in a very bad condition. I could not lie down for the smothering spells that would almost overcome me, and the feeling of oppression around my heart. I had not been so that I could lie on my left side for a long time. I got your Heart Cure and took three bottles. I have no trouble now with my heart and can lie on my left side as well as my right. Formerly I had suffered for years with nervous prostration and the feeling of oppression that sometimes I had got clear out of heart of getting anything that would help me. The nerves of my heart were so affected that sometimes it would lose beats so it would seem to stop altogether. It was on the advice of a lady friend that I tried your Restorative Nerve. I felt better after the first few doses and two bottles of Nerve and one of Heart Cure made me feel like a new person. My heart is all right and my nervousness is all gone. I never fail to recommend it to others afflicted as I am. Address Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind."

Agriculture and Education.

(By Henry Woody.)

If agriculture were taught in our common schools much of the false impression, now in the minds of the farmer boys, would be cleared away and a higher value placed upon the farm and the farmer, and he would quickly see the opportunities offered by the life of a farmer, when conducted on business principles, and he would not be in such a hurry to rush to the town or city to seek other employment. When we consider that agriculture is the foundation stone upon which rests the happiness, prosperity and greatness of our country, and without which all other enterprises would fail, it seems strange this great science, dealing with nature, to understand which brings into play all the faculties of the mind, would be so little considered as a part of our educational system. The time has come for action along these lines and the day is not far distant when more of the science of agriculture will be taught in all the schools and less of foreign exchange and Greek. To this end every farm paper and every newspaper should work until we place the profession of the farmer at its rightful place—at the head of the professions requiring a knowledge of plant growth and requirement, and, above all, business ability. Is there any other profession that requires a broader and more comprehensive education than this?

Many people of today, seem to think that an education is worthless to those desiring to till the soil for a living. Perhaps a more erroneous argument was never before the intelligent masses. The young man who enters upon the responsible duties of life, in any avocation, is totally unsurpassed unless he has obtained an education. A farmer does not necessarily need a collegiate education to carry on a farm successfully, but he ought to be able to do the business of every day life.

Jumbled His Words.

The Rev. W. A. Spooner, an English clergyman, is afflicted with a habit of mixing up words in absurd fashion. He once astonished his congregation by saying that some one present doubtless had in his heart "a half warmed fish." He meant to say "half formed wish." A hymn beginning "Conquering kings their title take" was turned into "Kinkering kongs their titles take," and the Fifty-first Psalm was announced as "fusty-fifth."

He Was Not Fit to Eat.

Not long ago a missionary fell among the cannibals, who, after holding a conference, decided to cook him for supper. They communicated their intention to the unfortunate man, who, however, strongly advised them not to devour him, saying he was very unpalatable.

"See," said he, "I will give you a piece of my leg to eat, and you will no longer wish to eat me."

With these words he produced a knife, cut a slice from his leg and sent it the round of the cannibals. The unanimous decision after tasting it was to let him go free. The leg was made of cork!

A SERPENT IN EDEN.

An Incident That Illustrates Fickleness of Love

"Love is a strange thing," commented Charles. "Persons say that it endures 'till the stars grow old," but I know better. There are circumstances which I will guarantee to cure the most ardent affection that ever burned in a man's heart. I loved Rose and she knew it. One lovely June day we set out awhile for the woods on the Jersey shore, which I thought would make a fitting scene for the declaration I was to make and her sweet consent to be mine.

"Let us walk a little," suggested when he reached a woodland path padded soft with green moss and set about with ferns and purple violets.

"I took her hand, 'Rose, dear,' I began.

"Oh!" she shrieked. "The snake!"

"Don't be frightened. I will kill it," I cried reassuringly.

"She ran to one side of the road, uttering little screams, while I snatched a stick and struck at the snake. It darted up my trousers and wiggled around my leg.

"Horribly frightened lest the venomous reptile should bite me, I grabbed my trousers first in one place and then in another, dancing frantically up and down to rid myself of that awful squirming creature around my leg. Presently the snake dropped its hold and slid to the ground. With terrible energy I struck it with my stick, trembling with nervous dread and excitement.

"I turned to Rose. She was sitting on the ground doubled up with helpless laughter.

"Oh," she cried, tears of mirth rolling down her cheeks, 'if you had only seen how funny you looked dancing around, grabbing for that little green snake! I didn't mean to laugh, but—be, he, he!'—She wiped her eyes.

"I helped her up on the wheel. The rest of the ride lacked enthusiasm, and I have never been to see Rose since."—New York Herald.

The Street Railway.

The Gainesville News of its last issue contains the following about the progress of the street railway: Captain Kidd, with a force of hands of the electric company, commenced work yesterday morning on Washington street laying track for the electric cars to the station. It is expected that the track will be laid within a week's time, and ready for the cars. As soon as the line is ready the cars will be put on with a regular schedule.

Mr. Carlile stated this week that as soon as the Washington street line was finished a force of hands would be put to work on the line to the river, or to Dahlonega, most probably to the river, so that the company would be free to push their extensions and not be hampered with work in the city. If work is commenced on the river line, it will be pushed rapidly to completion and cars will be running to the dam on the Chattahoochee by the first of June.

Last Saturday night the cars were put on the Green street line, and are now running on regular schedule time. They leave the depot and standpipe on every twenty minutes meeting at the junction at Dr. Bailey's corner, where transfers are given.

Beauty Don'ts Which Women Should Obey.

Don't forget that the nurses of woman's beauty are seven—fresh air, sunshine, warmth, rest, sleep, and whatever stirs the blood, be it exercise or enthusiasm.

Don't neglect sleep. You can sleep yourself into good looks. A long nap and a hot bath will make any woman more attractive, and lift years from her shoulders.

Don't eat when tired and don't work when tired. It is a mistake to work when you are not in a fit condition—bad for the work and worse for you.

Don't miss your "beauty sleep." It is a mistake to go to bed late at night, rise at daybreak, and imagine that every hour taken from sleep is an hour gained.

Don't give unnecessary time to a certain established routine of housework, when it could be much more profitably spent in rest and recreation.

Don't sit down to the table as soon as you come in from work, or a round of social duties. Lie down, or sit down for ten minutes, waiting until you can partake of your dinner with the physical machinery rested and refreshed.

Don't bathe in hard water. Soften it with a little powdered borax, or a handful of oat meal.

Don't wash the face when traveling, unless it is with a little alcohol and water, or a little cold cream.

The Meek and Lowly Editor.

When an editor makes a mistake in his paper, all the world sees it and calls him a liar. When a private citizen makes a mistake, nobody knows it except a few friends, and they come around and ask the editor to keep it out of the paper. When the private citizen dies, the editor is asked to write up all his good qualities and leave out the bad. When the editor dies, the private citizen will say, "Now that old liar will get his deserts."—Cleveland (Okla.) Triangle.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, MARCH 26, 1903.
Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O.
as Second Class Matter.
Official Organ of both City and County.

At Orange, Texas, paper is being manufactured out of pine shavings.

The congregation of the first Baptist Church at Washington City is stirred up over the marriage of a negro and a white woman within its walls last week.

The Gainesville and Dahlonega Railway Co., is purchasing all the rights of way necessary and going right ahead with its work. The Eagle says the president expects to have the cars running to the Chattahoochee river by the first of May.

Some enterprising Americans are now manufacturing idols for the Koreans and other devout heathen. Think of a ship sailing from this country with a cargo of Bibles, missionaries, wooden and cast-iron gods, whiskey, lager beer, opium and tobacco!—Cobb County Courier.

The president reappointed Dr. W. D. Crum, colored, collector of customs at Charleston, S. C., and William M. Byrne United States district attorney for Delaware. Both of these nominations failed of confirmation at the recent session of the senate. The president seems to be fond of these black brothers.

The contract for the completion of the Agriculture building at the St. Louis World's Fair was let on Saturday, Feb. 28, for $529,950. This building is fifteen per cent larger than any other building at the exposition and is the largest structure erected for the reception of a single department. It is 500 by 1,600 feet thus contains a floor space of almost twenty acres.

Mr. Calvin of Richmond, says that he will advocate the passage of a bill to appropriate annually $50,000 to the state university. Then he will urge upon the legislature to divorce the agricultural department from the university and let the land script fund go to that college as the national government intended, when congress passed the law over thirty years ago.

John Bryant, colored, was hanged in Moultrie last Friday after making a confession. He made every effort possible to escape jail but failed. Then he claimed that he had been visited by an angel in a dream that notified him that a severe cyclone would destroy Moultrie the day he was executed, but it didn't come. Showing that the dead negro was visited by the sheriff with a rope, and not an angel.

Drs. J. W. Bailey and J. H. Daniel of Gainesville last week purchased of Drs. M. M. and E. P. Ham, for $17,000 their two stores at West Washington and Main streets, before the doors of which the Gainesville and Dahlonega Electric Railway Company was recently enjoined from laying its tracks. This sale dissolves the injunction, the new owners agreeing to the encroachment, and the road is laying its tracks on the original survey and will now complete its line in the city by April 1.

Dr. Ellenberger and Assistant Commissioner R. F. Wrist yesterday prepared a poster which will be put up all along the quarantine line warning all persons not to drive cattle across the line not to allow them to stray there, a violation of this law is misdemeanor and so punishable. Georgia now has three entire counties, Union, Rabun and Towns above the quarantine line, and efforts are being made to bring the line still further south. The whole of Rabun county was only recently placed north of the line.—Constitution.

Mining Notes.

The work on the new dredge boat for Messrs. Ingersoll & Criss is moving right along.

On Monday morning after many weeks of cloudy, rainy weather, the sky was clear and bright causing the miners to renew their energy, being able to get in full time this week.

It is useless for us to take up space and time to go into much detail this week about the mines. The progress of the Cavender Creek and Pyrites mines are given by correspondents elsewhere, and work at all the others is going right ahead as usual.

Mr. Maxwell, who went to examine a smelter for the Consolidated Co. operating in Mexico, returned Tuesday evening, and reports it a perfect success in that country, but here the flux and fuel will have to be considered. Mr. Maxwell will make his report to Mr. Ainslie, the president of the Consolidated Co., who will consider this matter.

The Crown Mountain plant continues operation both day and night without any trouble. The pump has quit breaking and no delay is caused whatever. The plates look splendid and much gold can be seen in the flume ways. In the Preacher cut a number of years ago, while Messrs. Moore and Clements were working it, a rich pocket of gold looking like fern was struck, more than 70 pennyweights were found in one painful and about 700 pennyweights were taken out of the pocket. This week some of the same kind of gold has been discovered in the sluice boxes, and it may be that they have struck another rich pocket.

A. W. Farlinger, grocer of Atlanta, and Walter Keenan, of the Standard Oil company, are preparing to work the gold mining interests in White county. Already large sums of money have been expended in purchasing gold producing land says the Journal. They are associated with eastern capitalists and the operations to be inaugurated in White county promise to be most extensive. It is reported that several veins of the richest ore have been struck and it is probable that plants valued in the neighborhood of $100,000 will be erected at once. It is not expected, however, to confine the search for gold to White county as it is known that several other sections of the state are exceedingly blessed with the yellow metal, and are waiting only for capital to convert it into bullion. Georgia was at one time known as one of the foremost gold producing states in the Union, but of late years has deteriorated from its position. This was due to a large extent to the rascally action of some of the companies operating the mines or to the unskillful operation itself.

Messrs. Farlinger and Keenan are firm in the belief that there is a world of gold in Georgia and they propose to get at it. Both men are enthusiastic in the movement and have very little fear of failure.

Pratt's Pyrite Mine.

DAHLONEGA, GA.,
March 25, 1903.

ED. NUGGET:

This property, situated on the Chocotate river, six miles above Dahlonega, as it appeared to the writer, has passed beyond the stage where one would call it a mere "prospect."

The development work consists of an incline shaft, three compartments, which has been sunk 152 feet directly on a part of the vein, keeping as near as possible to the foot wall of vein. At the 100 foot level a cross-cut has been run and has attained a distance of 28 feet—all in solid ores, iron pyrites. It is thought that the vein is four to five feet thicker yet according to the outcroppings, which in places, has attained a width of 32 feet.

In this day of marvelous cheap mining the first thing to be taken into consideration is the quantity of ore and then the quality, and we have qxq-p, quantity times quality, equal to profit.

As to the values of the ore of the above property, I was informed that it ran $2.10 in gold, 9 per cent copper, and 80 to 40 per cent sulphur.

At present they are working twenty-five men and as development work progresses more men will be added.

It is the purpose of the present owners to build a dam in Chocotate which borders their property, and there install proper electric appliances for generating sufficient power to operate their whole plant. The ore as it is mined, will be crushed to a suitable size, then concentrated and the concentrates will be shipped to Atlanta, where their values will be extracted and the sulphur will be converted into sulphuric acid, which is used extensively in the manufacture of fertilizers.

This enterprise, once under good headway, will mean much for N. E. Ga.

With their success, means the building of a railroad, beyond the question of a human doubt.

W. A.

Mr. Geo. Moore, who we stated last week had been awarded the contract of carrying the Gainesville and Dahlonega mail, by Wahoo, has until the first of April to get ready. He was notified by the department of this fact last Friday. It was advertised to begin on the 25th inst., but some little delay occurred, causing it to go over until the first of April.

Mr. W. B. Woodward of the Signal, who terms himself "Apple Jack," left last Saturday for Atlanta, where he goes to work for Foote & Davis. Recently the Union printers, engaged by this company, struck and those filling their places not belonging to the organization are called "scabs" by printers. So Billie is by this time a "scab." We trust that he will soon shed off, grow fat and get rich. Later, — He has returned,

No services were held at any of the churches last Sunday night on account of the rain, which is a rare occurrence in Dahlonega during Sunday.

Nearly all the hands who want from this county to work on the railroad, near Knoxville, Tenn., have returned. The hardships of railroad life didn't suit them.

The new daily mail from here to Gainesville, which begins next Wednesday, will enable us to get the Nugget to many of our subscribers on the line a day earlier than usual.

Mr. Wharton Anderson, of the Calhoun mine, came up to spend last Sunday in Dahlonega and it rained so during the day and that night that he got water bound and could not get back next day.

About seventy-five dollars were raised at the Baptist church last Sunday for missionary purposes. To have this much extra to give away shows that prosperity reigns in this section beyond a doubt.

Mr. F. V. Moose who was in town last week for several days in search of hands to work on the Cavender Creek canal, failed to get the number he wanted. This shows that there is plenty of work here for those who want it.

The four boys who were fined for visiting a negro house one night last week, have all left town. We don't blame them. We had been in their places we would have left before the trial and exposure.

Those eating apples now have to pay 20 cents per dozen. They are shipped from some other country. This section can produce as fine apples as any country on earth and such a price as this should encourage farmers to set out large orchards and give this industry more attention.

Our farmers are complaining about being behind with their work but what about those living on the Mississippi river where the farms are overflowed for hundreds of miles, destroying both life and property, and when the flood ceases it will be many weeks before they can plow a furrow.

What makes goods cheaper in Gainesville than in Dahlonega? Simply because some buy their big cash articles there and little things they want on a credit are purchased in Dahlonega. The merchant being compelled to wait for months on them is obliged to add a pretty good profit. Some debts he loses entirely.

Marshal Harbison, after watching for some time last week and seeing two or three parties come out of a certain house, in the outskirts of Dahlonega, with packages like bottles rolled up in paper under their arms, he went in and made a search, but found nothing but two big empty jugs, smelling fresh with corn juice.

Mrs. Strickland desires to call the ladies especial attention this week to her new stock of millinery goods just received. She has something to please all. Mrs. Strickland is assisted by Miss Pearl Barnan, of Cartersville, who has large experience in the millinery business. Call and examine goods. See ad. elsewhere.

Only a few days ago a married man was guilty of giving a eight or nine year-old boy liquor to drink until the little fellow got so drunk he had to go to bed. And on last Sunday special services were held at the Baptist church for the raising of funds to send off to teach the heathens how to act. Couldn't some of it be used right at home to a good advantage?

Not long ago, while some parties residing near the foot of the Blue Ridge were on their way to an adjoining county, a certain deacon got so full of mountain dew that he could neither walk nor crawl, and Hardie Lance, a brother member, volunteered his services as a horse and was rode across the creek by the deacon. Had he dropped off of Hardie's shoulder into the water and got drowned he would have been in bad shape to face his Maker.

John H. Moore will make it to the interest of those wishing to buy family groceries.

Mrs. Patton Wimpy died at her home a few miles from Dahlonega last Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, after an illness of several months of consumption, and her remains were interred at Jones' Chapel cemetery by the side of her husband on the Sunday following.

A gentleman of Dawson county, who in Dahlonega the other day, said that they had sure enough small pox down at Mr. Harbison, in that county. It was brought from the west and is very severe, causing much uneasiness, as the small pox heretofore was so light that but little attention was paid to it.

Elsewhere will be found the advertisement of Mr. C. W. Satterfield, who has recently bought out Mr. John Hatfield and filled the store room with a general line of goods. Mr. Satterfield's qualifications as a merchant and his manner of fair dealings are too well known to the people of this place to receive any comment from us.

It will be to your interest to visit Price's store. He has in another lot of new shoes, all the dry goods and notions you need, and a hat to fit everybody, at prices that are sure to please. Besides this he has in a lot of Schott's special coffee and Rex's brand of sugar cured hams, and everything else you may need in this line.

The heaviest hail we have heard during the storm in this section last Friday night, was out at Mr. Jess Satterfield and at one of the Sullins. The former stated that the stones were as large as hen eggs at his house and he could have raked them up in his yard by the hundred bushels. The latter said that the hail covered his floor four inches deep.

Not long ago a certain man in Dahlonega being jealous of his wife, borrowed a coat, dress and a bonnet to wear one night to see if he couldn't procure more light on the subject. After slipping up he came walking down the street, endeavoring to act like a lady as much as possible and while trying to give the Grecian bend his hips flew out of place and the troubled man has been paining and complaining every since.

There was no mail from Gainesville last Monday to this place. The river was up and the mail didn't even start from that end of the line, but the carrier from Dahlonega went through all right. They didn't even notify us here, and the cause of the delay was not known until the next morning when an enquiry was made asking them the trouble. Postmaster Tate sent the mail out on Tuesday morning. And Monday's mail reached us Tuesday at 2 p. m.

An effort was made to get Dick McDonald out on bond, who is now in jail charged with larceny, but as sheriff Davis had been requested by the U. S. Dist. attorney to notify him before he was released, the official did so, and Dick is still here. It will be remembered that McDonald is a witness against John Chatten in the U. S. Court, who is charged with breaking into Wier postoffice in this county, but McDonald refused to testify against Chatten while he (McDonald) was serving out a sentence in the penitentiary for the same offense. This explains it.

Mr. Moses Moore was married to Miss Lola Weaver last Tuesday night. Rev. J. Shed officiating.

A couple of women quarreled out on 'Pea Ridge last Monday, but as it would take a book of many pages to contain what they said, we will not even make an effort.

Mr. John Ricketts has contracted for carrying the daily mail from here to Wild, which will begin with a regular schedule next Wednesday. He starts from there at ten and returns at two.

A big line of mens and boys' hats being closed out at greatly reduced prices. Big bargains for you at Anderson & Jones'. They are opening up a bargain counter, which will be a big saving to everybody hunting bargains.

Dahlonega was visited by a heavy hail and wind storm last Friday night, causing much alarm for awhile on account of the very angry looking cloud. The lightning struck a tree near Mr. Moores and played about on the electric wires in town until one side of it was thrown in darkness. The width of the storm was several miles wide but did no damage that we have heard of. The ground here was covered with hail stones as large as patridge eggs.

The other day Mr. Sam Anderson and his wife passed through Dahlonega on their way to Cleveland to go before Judge Kinsey. They rode in different vehicles. They had separated and Mrs. Anderson asked for an injunction, restraining her husband from selling any of his effects. After reaching Cleveland they compromised, the injunction was dissolved and they rode back to Dahlonega together, with the intention of reuniting and trying to live a more happier life.

Mr. G. McGuire and T. J. Smith & Bro., have dispensed with the use of kerosene lamps in their business houses and are now using electric lights. Most all the business houses in Dahlonega and a number of private residences and hotels are furnished lights by the Consolidated Co's plant, causing it to be very profitable and it takes but little money to run it. This is a great country of ours. Here we have water power sufficient to generate electricity to run gold mines, copper mines, railroads and all kinds of machinery, and have our stores, hotels, dwellings, churches, colleges buildings and mills lit up at night as bright as day.

We have just learned of some very bad conduct that occurred on Sunday the 15th, a few miles above Dahlonega. Three young men, two from Crumby and one from Chestate districts, got badly intoxicated, and two of them astride of one small pony, went to Sunday School at Fishan but left before services, and ran their horses up and down the road, cursing and screaming like panthers and firing their pistols as if Chestate was a heathen settlement. Such conduct ought and likely will get its just deserve at spring term of court. The citizens are much displeased with it and are not likely to forget the matter when the proper time comes.

From Auraria.

It doesn't cease raining long enough for the people to plant their gardens. They ought to have been planted some time ago. Wheat is looking fine in this section.

Mr. Jim Davis of Auraria, and Mr. Ralph Weaver of Dahlonega, who have for some time been in Alabama, came in a few days ago. A little eight-months-old child of Mr. Tom Andersons died last Sunday night. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at the Baptist cemetery by Rev. V. A. Higgins.

Mr. Dave Smith and family, who have for some time been in Auraria, left for Alabama Wednesday morning the 18th. Mr. R. T. Hardin, who for a long time has lived near Auraria, has recently moved down into Dawson county.

Cavender Creek Items.

March 22, 1908.

Ed. NUGGET:
It's raining right along, though not so bad as to stop the boys from work on the ditch. All is moving on nicely and we contemplate having the dirt work done by the first of May, if the weather will permit. Col. John B. Ricketts is moving his end of the line right along since he has put on his derby hat. Capt. Joseph H. Sparks is afraid to go to sleep in the tunnel for fear it will fall on him. Uncle Virge Moore ran over to where the Captain was resting the other day and asked him if he had a cat. Mr. Sparks says "yes, but I need it myself." Uncle Virge says "you can get in the tunnel to get your breath where it's cool and I'm in the sun shine and want the cat to put in any bosom to draw my breath. Oh, it's so hot!"

Allen Anderson says he will not have to work now. Some one asked why? His answer was that he was on Frank Brown's bond and that would support him. Wonder if Mr. Wallace has quit work, too?

Lee ate so much dinner Sunday that he had to lay down and rest awhile. Charley Wild and Oliver Painter went to see some of the girls Sunday, as usual. It took them until after dinner to get their hair parted and combed.

Col. S. A. Jones from Waynesville, N. C., has returned to Cavender's Creek and will remain a few days with us. Our stamp mill is going and the Colonel is after the gold button, of course.

Harris Postell Arrested Again.

Harris Postell of this place, was re-arrested by City Marshal Harbison last Saturday and lodged in jail, according to the instructions of the sheriff of Fannin county, on an old warrant charging him with stealing something in that county two or three years ago. This is the second time he has been arrested on this same warrant. At the first arrest he had just made bond in this county charged with the same offense, and as court came here first it was decided it had the first pull at Harris, and the unfortunate boy was brought back, tried, convicted and sentenced to the chain gang, and sent off down the country. Before his term expired he made his escape and one night while several miles from the camp the boy crept into a straw pile for a short rest. He had not eaten anything in a day or two except green corn, found in the fields and he felt weak and tired and needed rest. While in this secluded place some one set the straw on fire and he had no way to escape except to crawl out through the big blaze. His clothing was all burned from his body and after making his way to a branch became exhausted from the intense suffering. Here he was found and carried back to the camps and his folks notified to come and get him for he could not live. His ears were burned off and a hole burned in the back of his head, besides other serious wounds. It looked impossible for him to recover in such a condition. His pains were intense. His groans and screams could be heard far away. The physicians believed he would die. But after many months of great suffering he began to recover, and only a short time ago got able to do some work. The officers of Fannin learned of this fact and are preparing for Harris to be dealt with over there as the law directs. If any person ever experienced hell on earth Harris Postell certainly has, and it looks like he has already suffered enough for what he has done without being carried back to the chain gang to toil at hard labor again.

Mr. R. H. Webb takes charge of the Dahlonega Hotel today.

Mr. G. C. Wallace will keep store for Mr. J. B. Witt at Ducktown a month so Mr. Witt can visit Dahlonega.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CHEMIST

A Treatise on Agricultural Chemistry.

THE VALUE OF PHOSPHORIC ACID

As a Constituent of Plant Food It is Most Important—In Same Class with Nitrogen and Potash—Interesting to Farmers.

(Continuing the letters of the State Chemist to Georgia Farmers.)

In letter No. 4, bulletin No. 38, I alluded to the importance of phosphoric acid as a constituent of plant food. It is in the same class with nitrogen and potash, they being the elements found only in small quantity in most cultivated soils, all the other elements necessary to plant life being usually present in profusion. Phosphoric acid, then, must be added to the soil if we expect large yields. The various sources of phosphoric acid, then, are of interest.

Bones were the first and earliest form in which phosphoric acid was applied to the soil. Bones are a combination of organic and inorganic matter. The organic matter in a bone consists mainly of fat and a glutinous matter; the inorganic matter is chiefly phosphate of lime. This dual composition of a bone can be demonstrated very graphically by taking the leg bone of an animal and soaking it for quite a while in weak muriatic acid. The acid will dissolve away the phosphate of lime, which gives rigidity and stiffness to the bone, and leave behind the glutinous, flexible animal matter of the bone which will still retain the shape of the original bone. You can now take this soft organic matter and tie it into a knot, without breaking it. This soft animal matter of the bone is rich in nitrogen, so that a bone fertilizer is a double manure, both phosphatic and nitrogenous. Bones vary a good deal in composition, according to the nature and age of the animal; there is not so much phosphate in the bones of a young animal as those of an old one. Even in the same animal, the hard thigh bones of an ox, for instance, will contain more phosphate of lime than softer bones from other parts of the animal. Bones to be of value should of course be ground, and the finer the grinding the better. A coarsely crushed or ground raw bone, which has not been treated to remove any of its original fatty matter, will decay with comparative slowness in the soil, and consequently but little effect might be expected from its application the first season.

A good raw bone will contain on an average 22 per cent. phosphoric acid and 4 per cent. of alkaline. Such a bone is quite difficult to grind fine, and on its fitness depends in large measure its value as a fertilizer. But by boiling and steaming, much of the fat is removed, which has no value as a manure; some of the nitrogen is also removed in the form of glue and gelatine by the boiling and steaming process. This treatment, however, enables the bone to be ground much finer than the raw bone, and where the process has been carried out very thoroughly, as in the manufacture of glue, the resulting ground bone may contain as high as 30 per cent. of phosphoric acid, but the nitrogen in this case will be reduced to less than 2 per cent. Actual experiments have shown that all the phosphoric acid from a finely ground steamed bone may become available in one to two seasons in the soil, while that from a coarse ground raw bone would not become fully available in three or four seasons.

The Mineral or Rock Phosphates. If bones were the only source of phosphoric acid, modern agriculture would be in a distressing condition, since bones could supply only a very small part of the demand. The prices of fertilizers would be very much higher than they now are; the cotton crop of the South and the grain crops of the world would be very much smaller, and the population of the earth very much less than it now is. So true is it that life itself as counted by generations rises and falls in greater or smaller volume, in union with the available supply of plant food in the soil. A very large proportion of the dense population and increased wealth of the Old World is due to the discovery of the mineral phosphates. Deposits of these in greater or less quantity have been known for a long time in the Old World, but I shall mention only those fields in this country which are of great commercial importance today. The first of these in point of discovery and development were the South Carolina phosphate beds. These beds are in the neighborhood of Charleston, S. C. The rock is found both in the land and in the rivers in great quantity. This phosphate is found usually in the form of lumps or nodules, varying from the size of a pebble to quite large masses. The deposits vary from one or two feet to twelve or more in thickness. This rock contains no nitrogenous organic matter like bone, but is simply a rock phosphate. It is true, however, that among the deposits are found many evidences of life, such as immense vertebrae of animals, and large teeth of shark, marine and other animals. The South Carolina rock contains from 26 to 28 per cent. of phosphoric acid. It is highly esteemed both at home and abroad as a source of phosphoric acid; actual mining began there in 1858.

Florida Phosphates.

The next great discovery of phosphate rock in this country occurred in Florida in 1888 and '89. There are different forms of this phosphate; first, we have the land or boulder phosphate, which occurs in rocky or stony masses of varying size and form, and varying from 30 to 40 per cent. of phosphoric acid; second, the "soft" phosphate, a white powdery material, mixed with more or less kaolin and containing from 18 to 20 per cent. of phosphoric acid; thirdly, we have the "pebble" form consisting of small, hard rounded pebbles, which occur both in the beds of the rivers, and in deposits on the land. They are variable in composition, but range from about 30 to 38 per cent. of phosphoric acid. The Florida rock constitutes a very important source of phosphoric acid, is highly esteemed, and is used largely both at home and abroad.

Tennessee Phosphate.

Shortly after the discovery of phosphate rock in Florida, discoveries began to be made in Tennessee in the vicinity of Nashville, and later still important deposits began to be found in Maury county, Tenn., near Mt. Pleasant. This rock, like the others, is variable in form and composition, but the marketable varieties range from 30 to 37 per cent. of phosphoric acid. There are other important phosphate deposits in the world, but those just described constitute the important ones for southern agriculture. Having mentioned the chief sources of nitrogen and phosphoric acid, we will take a bird's-eye view of the source of potash.

JOHN M. McCANDLESS,
State Chemist.

Washington Drawn by Himself.

Washington, at the age of thirty-one, described his own size as follows in ordering a suit of clothes: "Six feet high, proportionately made; if anything, rather slender than thick for a person of that height, with pretty long arms and thighs."

Washington's tastes and habits are most exactly set forth in his cash books, in which he recorded every expenditure between 1754 and 1775.

He spent much on fine clothes, ribbons, fancy buckles, powder bags, silk stockings, etc. His laundry bills were very high. The sums spent for combs, hair brushes, toilet soaps and shaving outfits were very considerable, as was also his outlay for shoe brushes and blacking.

He had a decided taste for the drama. There are frequent records of sums spent for theatre tickets.

He also enjoyed cards and billiards. It was his habit to play for small stakes and to keep an exact account of his gains and losses.

He was a patron of the race-track and subscribed each year to the purse for its support.

He usually attended the races and bet moderately, keeping the same strict account of his gains and losses. He took frequent chances in raffles. He gave a great deal of money to charity, to soldiers wounded or destitute, to sailors and often to widows and begging women. He gave liberally to his mother also, in money and valuable presents, and made presents to his relatives.

He was more of a reader than is generally supposed, especially on agriculture, war, history, politics, travels, etc.

He bought a ring in Philadelphia in 1758. A few weeks later he is at Mrs. Custis's with his liberal "tips" to her domestics, all faithfully recorded. The purpose of the ring may be inferred.

He often "treated the crowd" when stopping at a public-house with a party of gentlemen, always recording in his cash book the amount expended.

He had defective teeth and frequently visited the dentist's.

He was a considerable master to his servants, had them well clad, housed and fed. When ill they were attended by physicians whom Washington had employed by the year for that purpose, and had two rooms reserved as a hospital.

White River.

White river, Arkansas, is said to be the crookedest stream in the United States, if not in the world. It travels 1,000 miles in traversing a distance of 300, zigzagging, winding, twisting, curving, bending, snaking, tortuous, tortive way through the beautiful Ozark mountains, the Alps of America.

Kill or Cure.

In a Cornish fishing village a miserly old fellow's wife fell ill, and he called in a doctor. "I am willing," he said, "to pay you liberally for your services. Do what you can for my poor wife. Here is $5 ready for you, kill or cure."

The woman died, and the doctor asked for his money.

"Doctor," said the bereaved one, "did you kill my wife?"

"Great Scott! No. I did all I could to save her."

"Did you cure her?" demanded the husband.

"No; she died in spite of all my skill."

"Then," said the miser, "I don't see what you are bothering me about. Our contract was $5, kill or cure, and on your own admission you have done neither."—London Standard.

A Wife's Ultimatum.

A woman left her husband on the ground that he ill-treated her. Finally she offered to return to him if he would sign a set of rules she drew up for his observance. One of them was that he should take a bath once a week and put on clean clothes. The husband refused flatly to sign, and it was all off again. The wife was right. A husband who will not take a bath once a week and put on clean clothes ought to live in a stable.

Helpless Women.

Many of the women of today have been kept in such a state of financial dependence that they have no more judgment than a child when it comes to spending money. Where this is the case, however, it is generally the fault of the women's husbands or fathers, who have never allowed them to learn how to take care of money.

An old Hoosier pioneer who died the other day, requested that his gun, powder horn and razor be buried with him. Judging by the last mentioned article the old gentleman evidently wanted to look respectable in the next world, and cleanliness is next to godliness.

Consumption Cured

Foley & Co., Chicago, Ill., Sept. 28, 1902.
Gentlemen:—FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR cured me of consumption after I had suffered two years and was almost desperate. Three physicians failed to give me any relief and the last one said he could do me no good. I tried almost every medicine I heard of without benefit until FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR was recommended to me. Its effect right from the start was magical. I improved steadily from the first dose and am now sound and well, and think FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR is a God-send to people with Throat and Lung Trouble.
Yours very truly, Mrs. Mary Ambrose.

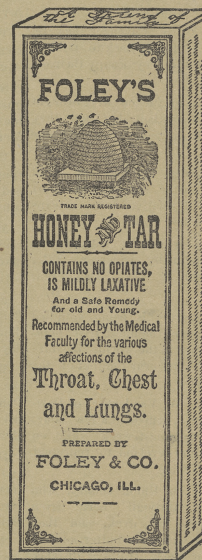

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR contains no opiates and does not constipate like ordinary cough medicines.
